I offer this humble work in the service of the Almighty Allah—the Creator, Lord, Cherisher, and Sustainer of the Heavens and Earth—and I dedicate it to His beloved servant and messenger, Prophet Muhammad (pbuh&hf), his righteous family, and his pious companions.

It is customary in Islam that when the name of Allah, Prophet Muhammad, other prophets, or Imams (descendants and successors of Prophet Muhammad) are enunciated, the following phrases are mentioned:

Allah—“Glorified and Exalted”
(Sabhanna wa-tallah)
Written abbreviation—SWT

Prophet Muhammad—“Peace be upon him and his family”
Written abbreviation—pbuh&hf

After the names of other prophets, Imams from the family of Prophet Muhammad, and his daughter—“Peace be upon him/her”
Written abbreviation—pbuh.

With great respect, admiration, acknowledgment, and praise, I have omitted the mentioned phrases for the sake of continuity.

Introduction

Bismillah al-rahman al-rahim.

*Those who listen to the Word and follow the best of it:
those are the ones whom Allah has guided,
and those are the ones with understanding.<sup>2</sup>*

The Shi'a and Sunni schools of thought form the two wings of the Islamic nation that allow it to fly and carry out its lofty objectives. A great Muslim scholar once said, "Those who attempt to cause division between the Shi'a and Sunni are neither Shi'a nor Sunni." Written under this premise, this book should clarify some common questions and inquiries about the philosophy and practice of Shi'a

Islam. The Shi'a and Sunni schools of thought differ primarily in jurisprudence and have far more similarities than differences. All schools of thought in Islam must be respected since they all share in leading people to salvation.

Due to a lack of clear information, the Shi'a imamiyyah school of thought has remained a mystery to many Muslims. Numerous Muslims have been relieved to discover the truth about Shi'a Islam from reliable sources. Nevertheless, the enemies of Islam have found that the best way to besmirch Islam and disturb the peace within the Muslim nation is to encourage division and sectarianism. Thus, a myriad of negative and false rumors with no basis in the authentic books of the Shi'a school of thought has been spread. These rumors have two sources: animosity towards Islam on the part of those who invent them, and ignorance on the part of those who believe and propagate them.

This book is a call to unite the Muslims since true unity stems from an understanding of each other's philosophies, not from keeping them secret. While the majority of Shi'a scholars and even average individuals keep many books belonging to other schools of thought in their libraries, few other Muslims take the time to read the original sources of Shi'a philosophy. I have endeavored in this book to present the most controversial issues that distinguish Shi'a Islam in a simple manner understandable by all people, particularly our youth generation in the Western countries. To make this book accessible to all readers regardless of their school of thought, I have relied mainly on the Holy Quran and traditions of the Holy Prophet Muhammad (pbuh&hf) as reported in the books of hadith.

I have endeavored to be as accurate and scientific as possible in presenting what has been recorded in the commonly accepted Islamic sources. I share the aspiration of most Muslims to see the Muslim nation heed the call of the Holy Quran, “Truly your nation is one nation, and I am your Lord. Therefore, worship Me.”<sup>3</sup>

Another aim is to build a strong, cohesive, and cooperative Muslim community around the globe, and for this nation to be respected it must be united. Muslims must understand and accept each other’s positions and principles. The best way to disperse the misunderstandings and misconceptions between the schools of thought is through constructive, sincere, and objective dialogue. If the Holy Quran invites the adherents of the three monotheistic religions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam) to share dialogue in a civilized manner<sup>4</sup> then certainly the schools of Islamic thought can also come together to discuss their differences based on the Holy Quran and the authentic traditions of the Holy Prophet Muhammad. While none can deny that the schools of thought have juristic (fiqh) differences, these differences should not prevent adherents to these schools from acknowledging and respecting each other’s opinions, for the leaders of these schools of thought acquired their knowledge from one source—the Holy Prophet and ultimately the Almighty Allah.

The Almighty Allah created human beings with both an inner messenger and an outer messenger. Both, the inner messenger, which is the brain or the reasoning faculty, and the outer messenger, which is the divine revelation, invites a person to exercise his or her intellectual abilities to search for the truth, and not to take their customs, traditions, or family behavior as sacred beliefs. This call is directed to followers of all branches of Islam. All Muslims must research and study their history and not be bound by the customs and traditions of their ancestors which may not rest on solid ground, for the Holy Quran condemns the blind following of ancestors:

And when it is said to them, ‘Come to what Allah has revealed and to the Messenger.’ They say, ‘enough for us is that which we found our fathers following,’ even though their fathers had no knowledge whatsoever and no guidance.<sup>5</sup>

When it is said to them, ‘Follow what Allah has sent down.’ They say, ‘Nay! We shall follow what we found our fathers following.’ Would they do that even though their fathers did not understand anything, nor were they guided?<sup>6</sup>

I ask all who read this book to read it objectively, with open-mindedness and without sectarian biases, and I welcome any suggestions, criticisms, or inquiries.

I ask Allah for guidance and enlightenment in our search for the truth. May Allah open our hearts and minds to the truth, and may Allah guide us and extend His mercy upon us, for He is the one who grants all things. “Our Lord! Let not our hearts deviate from the truth after You have guided us, and grant us mercy from You; truly, You are the Bestower.”<sup>7</sup> I ask Allah for His mercy, grace, and blessings in this endeavor, and I ask the readers for their prayers that we all continue to be humble servants of the religion of Allah on earth.

Introduction to Second Edition

Since the first edition of Inquiries about Shia Islam was published in the summer of 1999, four-thousand English copies have been distributed and sold to Muslims and non-Muslims in the United States of America and abroad. The book was also published in various languages. The need still exists for a better understanding about the traditions and followers of Ahlul-Bayt (as), and thus a revised second edition of the book was made. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Sister Fatma Saleh for her generous contributions in editing and revising the second edition. Special thanks are also due to the Khaki family of Seattle, Washington for making this book come to print. May Allah (swt), the most Merciful, the most Compassionate reward all those who work sincerely to serve His cause.

Who are the Shi'a?

The fifth Imam of the school of Ahlul-Bayt, Imam Muhammad al-Baqir once told his student by the name of Jabir, “Is it enough for a person to embellish himself as our shi’a (follower) by professing love for us, the Ahlul-Bayt? Nay! By Allah, a person is not our follower unless he fears Allah and obeys Him. Our followers are only recognized, O Jabir, by their humility, submission, honesty, abundant praise of Allah, fasting and prayers, goodness to their parents, attention to the poor, needy, debtors, and orphans living nearby, speaking of the truth, recitation of the Quran, holding their tongues, except for good words, and trustworthiness towards relatives in all affairs.”<sup>8</sup>

“Shi’a” means a group of followers and it occurs in the Quran many times in reference to the followers of the previous prophets, such as Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham) and Musa (Moses).<sup>9</sup> Shi’a today refers to the followers of a particular school of Islamic thought, which is based on the teachings of the Holy Prophet and his family, and is also sometimes referred to as the “school of Ahlul-Bayt” (the family of the Holy Prophet). While no schools of thought existed at the time of the Holy Prophet Muhammad, the Prophet still used to refer to a certain group of people as the “Shi’a of Ali.”

Some narrations in which the Holy Prophet Muhammad used the term “Shi’a of Ali:”

The parable of Ali is like a tree, of which I am the root, Ali is the branch, Hassan and Husayn are the fruits, and the Shi’a are the leaves.<sup>10</sup> (Ibn Hajar)

We were gathering with the Prophet when Ali ibn Abi Talib came. He said, ‘Verily, my brother came to you,’ and he placed his hand on the Ka’bah and said, ‘By the One Who holds my soul in His hand, this man and his shi’a are indeed the successful ones on the Day of Judgment.’<sup>11</sup> (Narrated by Jabir ibn ‘Abdillah al-Ansari)

The Prophet of Allah was with me when his daughter Lady Fatima came to greet him with her husband Ali. The Prophet of Allah raised his head and said, ‘Be glad Ali; you and your Shi’a are in the Paradise.’<sup>12</sup> (Narrated by Um Salamah, the wife of the Holy Prophet Muhammad)

You and your Shi'a are in the Paradise.<sup>13</sup>

As these narrations show, the Holy Prophet Muhammad himself was, in fact, the first person to use the term “shi'a,” and what's more, he always used the term in reference to Imam Ali. After the Holy Prophet passed away those who were loyal to Imam Ali were also known as the Shi'a. During the second century Hijrah (i.e., two centuries after the migration of Holy Prophet Muhammad from the city of Makkah to the city of Madina—the event which marks the beginning of the Islamic calendar), the Abbasid caliphs officially patronized the four Sunni schools of thought which were popularized by the enthusiasm of some of their leaders. As for the Shi'a, after the assassination of Imam Ali, they followed the leadership of his son Hassan, and after him his brother Husayn, and the subsequent nine imams who were the descendants of Husayn. They followed them on the firm basis of evidence in the Holy Quran and the tradition of Holy Prophet Muhammad who explicitly repeated on many occasions that he [the Prophet] would be followed by twelve imams after himself and they would all be from the tribe of Quraysh.<sup>14</sup>

Therefore, Shi'ism is the following of the Holy Quran and the tradition of Holy Prophet Muhammad as conveyed by his family, whom he appointed (i.e., the Ahlul-Bayt). After the Holy Prophet Muhammad, the Shi'a followed the twelve divinely ordained imams as successors to the Holy Prophet Muhammad, as shall be seen in the subsequent sections.

The Five Schools of Islamic Thought

Schools of Islamic thought (madhahib) are the paths people follow to the Holy Quran and Holy Prophet Muhammad. Obviously, these schools of thought were founded considerably after the death of the Prophet; in fact, they never took shape until the time of the Umayyid Caliphate. The common phrase ahl al-sunnah wal-jama'ah, for example, became prevalent during the third Hijrah. By the year 250H, the four Sunni schools of thought were being popularized and patronized during the Abbasid Caliphate. The Shi'a school of thought on the other hand, continued its growth and progress after Imam Ali through his descendants who were connected to each other through a chain of narration and knowledge. The Holy Prophet Muhammad and the designated imams in the Shi'a school of thought were shielded by Allah from any sin, religious error, or forgetfulness.

Today, the five schools of Islamic thought accepted by all Muslims are the Ja'fari, comprising 23% of the Muslims; the Hanafi, comprising 31% of the Muslims; the Maliki, comprising 25% of the Muslims; the Shafi'i, comprising 16% of the Muslims; and the Hanbali, comprising 4% of the Muslims. The remaining small percentage follows the minority schools, such as the Zaydi and the Isma'ili.<sup>15</sup>

Ja'fari

The Ja'fari school of thought was headed by Imam Ja'far ibn Muhammad al-Sadiq who lived from 83H to 148H. He was born in and died in the holy city of Madina and is the sixth Imam of the twelve designated imams of the school of Ahlul-Bayt. Although the fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence) was developed by the Holy Prophet Muhammad and his successors (i.e., the imams), the fiqh, as taught by the Shi'a, did not have the opportunity to be presented to the masses because of the political predicament that the Ahlul-Bayt suffered from under the rulers for many centuries. The imams refused to acknowledge the legitimacy of the Umayyad and Abbasid caliphs, and their governments. The imams of the Ahlul-Bayt and their followers were exposed to tremendous harassment and persecution at the hands of the caliphs. Once the Umayyad government became weak, Imam Ja'far ibn Muhammad al-Sadiq found a golden opportunity to formulate and spread the tradition of the Holy Prophet Muhammad and his family. At one time, four thousand scholars, Quran commentators, historians, and philosophers attended his classes in the holy city of Madina. Therefore, he was able to pass down the authentic teachings of the Holy Quran and the Holy Prophet Muhammad and crystallize them in what came to be known as al-Fiqh al-Ja'fari, the Ja'fari Jurisprudence. His teachings were collected in 400 usul (foundations) which were written by his students and encompass hadith, Islamic philosophy, theology, Quran commentary, literature, and ethics.

After a period of time, three distinguished scholars categorized these 400 usul in four books which are the main sources of hadith in the Shi'a school of thought. They are: al-Kafi by al-Kulayni (d.329H), Man La Yahduruh al-Faqih by al-Suduq (d.381H), and al-Tahdib and al-Istibsar by al-Tusi (d.460H). These three scholars were known as the "three Muhammads" since their first names were all Muhammad. While the three books are the main sources of hadith for the Shi'a, their authors still did not label their books as "sahih" (authentic). Although they did their best to gather only authentic traditions, if a particular tradition contradicted the Holy Quran then it was not accepted as legal and valid. Hadith, according to the Ja'fari school of thought, are accepted only if the Holy Quran verifies them, since the Holy Quran is the only certain source of guidance.

Hanafi

The Hanafi school of thought was headed by Imam al-Nu'man ibn Thabit (Abu Hanifa) who lived from 80H to 150H. Imam Abu Hanifa was born to a non-Arab father, raised in Kufa, and died in Baghdad. This school of thought prevailed during the time of the Abbasid Empire when a student of Imam Abu Hanifa, Abu Yusuf al-Qadi became the head of the judiciary department and the highest judge, and so, spread this madhhab (school of thought), in particular, during the caliphates of al-Mahdi, al-Hadi, and al-Rashid. No other man was as close to the Abbasid caliph, Harun al-Rashid as was Abu Yusuf al-Qadi, but the Abbasid caliph, al-Mansur also worked hard to support and consolidate Imam Abu Hanifa's school of thought and to spread his madhhab in the face of the growing popularity of Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq. Imam Abu Hanifa studied under the instruction of Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq for two years,<sup>16</sup> and said about him, "I have not seen one more knowledgeable than Ja'far ibn Muhammad, and indeed, he is the most knowledgeable one in the nation."<sup>17</sup>

Maliki

The Maliki school of thought was headed by Imam Malik ibn Anas al-Asbahi who lived from 93H to 179H. He was born in the holy city of Madina, and his fame spread throughout Hijaz. On the account of his disagreement with Imam Abu Hanifa, Imam Malik became the leader of the school of tradition (hadith) while Imam Abu Hanifa was the leader of the school of opinion (ra'i). Yet, most Muslim governments were supportive of Imam Abu Hanifa.

Imam Malik joined the 'Alawiyyin, the descendants of Imam Ali, and received his knowledge from Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq, but thereafter, inconsistencies marked his life. At one point he was oppressed; having earned the anger of the government, he was dragged through the streets by his clothes and lashed. In 148H, his fortunes reversed and he regained his popularity and dominance. The Abbasids tried to set him up as a popular reference for the nation in giving verdicts and injunctions. The Abbasid caliph al-Mansur asked him to write al-Muwatta', his book of fiqh, which contains the principles of the Maliki school of thought. Furthermore, during the hajj season, the official announcer of the government proclaimed that no one had the authority to give fatawas (religious decisions) except for Imam Malik. The Abbasid caliph Harun al-Rashid sat on the floor to listen to him, and the caliphate in general exalted him to the point where they said that no book on earth, except the Holy Quran, was more authentic than Imam Malik's. Ibn Hazm al-Andalusi says that two schools of thought were spread due to the government and the sultan: the school of Imam Abu Hanifa, since Abu Yusuf al-Qadi only appointed Hanafi judges, and the school of Imam Malik ibn Anas, for a student of Imam Malik, Yahya ibn Yahya was so respected in the caliph's palace that no judge was ever appointed in Andalus, Spain without his consultation and advice.

Shafi'i

The Shafi'i school of thought was headed by Imam Muhammad ibn Idris al-Shafi'i who lived from 150H to 198H. Imam Shafi'i was born in Hijaz and his school of thought emerged in Egypt. At the time of the Fatimid Dynasty, the Egyptians were mainly followers of Ahlul-Bayt, and the teachings of Ahlul-Bayt were being taught in al-Azhar University. At a later time, Salah al-Din al-Ayyubi came and waged an extensive war against the school of Ahlul-Bayt by banning the teaching of their madhhab (school of thought) in al-Azhar and resurrecting the other madhahib, including that of Imam Shafi'i, who was killed in Egypt in 198H.

Hanbali

The Hanbali school of thought was headed by Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal who lived from 164H to 241H. He was born and died in Baghdad. He only gained popularity in Najd (a region of the Arabian Peninsula) due to the ideas of Muhammad ibn ‘Abd al-Wahhab, the founder of Wahhabism. The Hanbali madhhab spread in Najd primarily due to the teachings of Ahmad ibn ‘Abd al-Halim al-Dimishqi ibn Taymiyyah (661H–728H) and his student ibn al-Qayyim al-Jawziyya.

A close study of the history of the madhahibs and a search into the reasons for their birth, existence, and spread reveals that the various governments were the main factor in the birth and spread of these schools. Governmental aid took physical and financial forms by establishing schools, sponsoring books of fiqh (law), adopting and sponsoring official madhahib, and giving freedom to the founders and scholars of the some “official” madhahib. This trend has occurred in almost every religion worldwide; for example, one might compare this trend in Islam to the birth of the Anglican Church in 1534AD by the English king, Henry VIII who made it the official religious tradition of the state, thus giving it 55 million followers.

History tells that the school of Ahlul-Bayt suffered extreme oppression, tyranny, and discrimination at the hands of the Umayyad and ‘Abbasid caliphs. But in spite of oppression, by the divine will of Allah, the school of Ahlul-Bayt reached a climax during the caliphate of al-Ma‘mun, and Shi'ism reached so far into the governmental dignitaries that al-Ma'mun himself was forced to show deep sympathy towards the 'Alawiyin, the descendants of Imam Ali, as well as, to show an inclination towards Shi'ism, to the point, that he invited Imam Ali ibn Musa al-Rida, the eighth imam of the school of Ahlul-Bayt to be his successor—a position which Imam al-Rida declined.

Imamah

The major distinction between the school of Ahlul-Bayt and the other Islamic schools of thought revolves around the issue of the imamah, or the early succession to the Holy Prophet Muhammad. The school of Ahlul-Bayt maintains that the office of the imamah is a divine office—meaning, the imam or khalifah (leadership) has to be appointed and mentioned by Allah directly, for this office holds the same significance as that of prophethood. People are thus commanded by Allah to follow specific successors (imams) after the Holy Prophet Muhammad.

Other schools of thought say that the imamah is determined by shura (election) and that this method was used to determine the succession to the Holy Prophet Muhammad. However, the Shi'a school of thought considers that the concept of shura was never fully enacted after the death of the Holy Prophet because ibn Qutaybah asserts that the first caliph was nominated mainly by two people;<sup>18</sup> ibn Kathir says that he had confined the candidacy for the khilafah to 'Umar ibn al-Khattab and Abu 'Ubaydah ibn al-Jarrah, both of whom declined and nominated him, a nomination that was seconded by Ma'adh, 'Usayd, Bashir, and Zayd ibn Thabit.<sup>19</sup> Tabari narrates that the Ansar refused to submit to his allegiance in al-Saqifah (the place where the matter of immediate succession to the Holy Prophet was discussed) and declared that they would only pay allegiance to Ali.<sup>20</sup> The first caliph has been recorded to have said in his inaugural ceremony, "O people! I was appointed over you, and I am not the best one among you."<sup>21</sup> Historian ibn Abi al-Hadid al-Mu'tazili records that the second caliph admitted his role in orchestrating the meeting at al-Saqifah when he later declared that paying allegiance to the first caliph had been a mistake (faltah) but that Allah had averted the disaster of it from the Muslims.<sup>22</sup> The concept of shura was also not implemented during the second caliph's ascension to the caliphate since the first caliph appointed him before his death. Neither was it enacted during the ascension of the third caliph to power, since he was also selected nominally by five people but in essence by one—namely, the second caliph, who also appointed two governors to remain in power after his death: Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqass and Abu Musa al-Ash'ari.<sup>23</sup>

Numerous verses in the Holy Quran refer to the fact that throughout history Allah alone has the right to ordain an imam or khalifah for mankind:

And remember when your Lord said to the angels, ‘Verily, I am going to place [mankind] a successor (khalifah) on the earth.’<sup>24</sup>

O David! Verily We have placed you as a successor (khalifah) on the earth, so judge between men with truth and justice, and follow not your desires, for they will mislead you from the path of Allah.<sup>25</sup>

And remember when the Lord of Abraham tried him with certain commands which he fulfilled. Allah said to him, ‘Verily I am going to make you a leader (imam) of mankind.’ Abraham said, ‘And my offspring?’ Allah said, ‘My providence includes not the wrongdoers.’<sup>26</sup>

And We made from among them leaders (imams), giving guidance under Our command, when they were patient and believed with certainty Our proofs and evidence.<sup>27</sup>

These verses clarify that not anyone is entitled to assume the office of leadership or the imamah; the only one who may is the one whom Allah examines and who fulfills Allah's test. In particular, the Holy Quran in 2:124 stresses very clearly that the wrongdoers (dhalimeen) are forbidden from assuming the leadership of the believers. And yet, has Islamic history shown this command to have been carried out? How many caliphs and sultans during the Umayyad and Abbasid periods were corrupt and did not practice Islam properly, and yet, were leaders of the Muslim nation?

Succession—khilafah or imamah—is attributed solely to Allah whenever it is mentioned in the Holy Quran. In the school of Ahlul-Bayt, the khilafah refers not only to temporal power and political authority over the people but more importantly, it indicates the authority to do so. This authority must be from Allah since Allah attributes governing and judgment to Himself.

Eight Categories of Verses of Allah's Government

(1) The Verses of Kingdom:

Say, 'O Allah! Possessor of the Kingdom!
You give the Kingdom to whom You will,
and You take the Kingdom from whom You will.'<sup>28</sup>

---

Say, 'I seek refuge with Allah, the Lord of Mankind, the King of Mankind, the God of Mankind....'<sup>29</sup>

To Allah belongs the domain of the heavens and the earth and all that is between them, and to Him is the return of all.<sup>30</sup>

(2) The Verses of Government:

The decision (hukm) is only for Allah. He declares the truth, and He is the best of judges.<sup>31</sup>

Surely, His is the judgment, and he is the swiftest in taking account.<sup>32</sup>

And in whatsoever you differ, the decision thereof is with Allah. He is the ruling judge.<sup>33</sup>

(3) The Verses of Command:

Say, 'Indeed, the command ('amr) belongs wholly to Allah.'<sup>34</sup>

Surely, His is the creation and the command. Blessed be Allah, the Lord of Mankind.<sup>35</sup>

But the decision of all things is certainly with Allah.<sup>36</sup>

It is not for a believer, man or woman, when Allah and His messenger have decreed a matter that they should have any opinion in their decision. And whoever disobeys Allah and His messenger, he has indeed strayed in plain error.<sup>37</sup>

(4) The Verses of Guardianship:

Verily, your guardian (wali) is Allah, His Messenger, and the believers—those who perform the prayers and give zakat (alms) while bowing down (ruku).<sup>38</sup>

Commentators unanimously agree that this particular verse refers to Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib who gave his ring to a beggar while in a state of bowing (rukū) in the course of his prayer.

The only saying of the faithful believers, when they are called to Allah and His Messenger to judge between them, is that they say, ‘We hear and we obey,’ and such are the prosperous ones.<sup>39</sup>

We sent no messenger but to be obeyed by Allah’s leave.<sup>40</sup>

By your Lord, they can have no faith until they make you (Prophet Muhammad) a judge in all disputes between them and find in themselves no resistance against your decision and accept it with full submission.<sup>41</sup>

(5) The Verses of Following:

Say (Prophet Muhammad) to mankind, ‘If you really love Allah, then follow me. Allah will love you and forgive you your sins, and Allah is the Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.’<sup>42</sup>

Say (Prophet Muhammad), ‘Follow that which has been sent down to you from your Lord, and follow not any guardian other than that.’<sup>43</sup>

(6) The Verse of Choosing:

And your Lord creates whatsoever He wills and chooses. No choice have they in any matter. Glorified be Allah, and exalted above all that they associate as partners with Him.<sup>44</sup>

(7) The Verse of Judgment:

And Allah judges with truth, while those whom they invoke besides Him cannot judge anything. Certainly Allah is the All-Hearing, All-Seeing.<sup>45</sup>

These examples from the Holy Quran show the characteristics of government which are only for Allah, the Exalted. The commonly repeated phrase “a la lahu al-’amr wal-hukm” (is not the command and the judgment His?) also illustrates this point. The most important characteristics of the leadership of Allah are the guardianship and the command, and He bestows this virtue on whomever He wills. The nature of the khilafah gives the khalifah the privilege to be a guardian over the people and obliges people to obey him. Since the absolute obedience and surrender is only for Allah, only Allah the Almighty has the right to transfer this power and authority to whomever He wills.

Allah says, “O ye who believe! Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and those vested with authority over you ('ul ul-'amr minkum). And if you quarrel about something, refer it to Allah and the Messenger.”<sup>46</sup> But if a person assumes leadership and became a caliph or imam by power and intimidation he will not necessarily be entitled to be the legitimate Muslim leader. Logic dictates that the imam or caliph who succeeds the Prophet should be appointed by Allah. Since Allah puts their obedience at the same level as obedience to Him and His Messenger; therefore, not anyone is entitled to become the caliph of the Holy Prophet. Islamic history shows that some corrupt people assumed the office of leadership and the khilafah during the Umayyad and Abbasid dynasties—but would this verse of obedience still apply to them? Would the believing Muslims have to follow these leaders blindly? Would Allah invite the Muslims to follow a corrupt leader and an oppressor?

In some of the hadith books, justification is found for such rulers to rule and a command for the Muslims to listen to them. Imam Bukhari narrates from the Holy Prophet, “After me, there will be rulers (wilat), and you will find good ones and corrupt ones. You Muslims have to listen to both of them. Whoever breaks the unity of the whole (the jama'ah) will be considered outside of the religion of Islam.”<sup>47</sup> Such a hadith is not compatible with the Holy Quran, which says, “And incline not towards those who do wrong (dhalamu) lest the Fire touch you and you have no protector other than Allah, nor would you be helped.”<sup>48</sup> The Holy Quran clearly emphasizes that those who believe should neither support nor incline towards an oppressor at all. There is no way to justify paying allegiance to or endorsing an oppressor to be the caliph or leader of the Muslim nation (ummah); doing so, would be in gross violation of the Quran injunctions. Verse 4:59 not only commands the faithful to obey the 'ul ul-'amr or their legitimate guardians (who are the infallible imams) but also rectifies their infallibility since no corrupt or wrongdoing person could be entitled by Allah to assume this trust.

Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib

The Holy Quran and the Holy Prophet Muhammad specifically refer to the leadership of Imam Ali after the Holy Prophet in several incidents.

Ghadir Khum

This incident took place on the 18th of Dhul Hijjah, the twelfth month of the Islamic calendar, and has been narrated by 110 companions of the Holy Prophet, 84 members of the following generation (the tabi'in), and 360 Muslim scholars from all schools of thought. The Holy Prophet Muhammad and approximately 114,000 of his companions had performed the farewell Hajj (pilgrimage) and were returning home. That year, during the hajj, the weather was very hot, with the blazing sun taking its toll on the pilgrims. When the Holy Prophet arrived at Ghadir Khum, a marshland crossroads from which all the Muslims from different lands would part ways, the Holy Prophet stopped the caravan at noontime, waiting for those who were behind to arrive and called upon those who had gone ahead to return, for he had received a revelation from Allah which he had to deliver to the people. The revelation read,

“O Messenger! Declare what has been revealed to you from Your Lord, and if you do not, then your words will not have been fully declared, and Allah will protect you from the harm of the people.”<sup>49</sup> Then the Holy Prophet spoke a bit before asking the assembly whether he truly had authority over them. The people replied, “Yes, O Prophet, of course you are our leader (mawla).” He repeated this question three times, and the people responded in the same way each time, acknowledging his leadership. The Holy Prophet then called for Ali, held up his arm so that their two arms formed one shape pointing upwards, and said to the people, “He whose leader (mawla) I am, Ali is his leader.”

At this time, Ali was 33 years old. The people received this news with a variety of responses—some with happiness and some with resentment. The first to congratulate Ali were the future first and second caliphs; the second caliph said, “Congratulations, congratulations to

After declaring the mentioned revelation another verse was revealed to the Holy Prophet Muhammad. Allah said, “Today I have completed for you the religion, and favored you with my bounty, and accepted Islam for you as the religion.”<sup>51</sup> With this verse, the religion of Islam was completed by the appointment of Imam Ali to succeed the Holy Prophet, and, had he not been appointed as the successor, the religion of Islam would have been incomplete.

The Verse of Warning (Indhar)

Three years after the advent of Islam, Allah commanded the Holy Prophet to proclaim his invitation to Islam to his immediate family in Makkah by commanding, “And warn your tribe of near kindred.”<sup>52</sup> The Holy Prophet gathered forty members of his tribe, Bani Hashim inside the house of his uncle Abu Talib and prepared food for them. After they had finished eating, the Holy Prophet said to them, “O children of ‘Abd al-Mutallib! By Allah, I don’t know any young person from among the Arabs who has brought his people something better than that which I am bringing you. I have brought you the best of this world and the next, and Allah has commanded me to invite you to it. So who will be my supporter in this endeavor, to be my brother, my successor (khalifah), and legatee?” All declined to answer except Ali ibn Abi Talib, who said, “I will be your supporter in this endeavor.” The Holy Prophet requested him to sit down and then repeated his question a second time. Again, Ali stood, and again, the Holy Prophet asked him to sit. When for the third time the Holy Prophet heard no answer from the other family members, Ali stood again and repeated his support. The Holy Prophet then put his hand on his leg and said to the forty men from his immediate family, “This is my brother, my legatee, and my successor (khalifah) over you, so listen to him and obey him.” The men stood and, while laughing, told the father of Ali, “Your nephew has ordered you to listen to your son and obey him.”<sup>53</sup> perform the prayers and give zakat (alms)

while bowing down (in ruku).<sup>54</sup>

Numerous commentators of the Quran from all schools of thought identify the one referred to in this verse as Ali ibn Abi Talib. The famous commentator, Zamakhshari says about this verse, "It was revealed in favor of Ali (may Allah enlighten his face). When a beggar asked him for alms while he was in the position of ruku during prayer, he gave away his ring while he was in that position. It seems it was loose on the little finger, for he did not exert any effort in taking it off, which would have nullified his prayer. If you ask how it could be in favor of Ali (may Allah be pleased with him) since the wording is in the plural form, I say that the form is plural although its instigator is a single man to encourage people to follow his example and earn a similar reward, and also to draw attention to the fact that the believers must be extremely mindful and benevolent towards the poor such that if a situation could not be postponed until after the prayer, it may not be delayed until having finished it."<sup>55</sup>

Similarly, al-Wahidi in his book on Quran commentary entitled, 'Asbab al-Nuzul', cites Kalbi's narration, that the cause of this revelation was about Imam Ali. Kalbi says, "The later part of this verse is in favor of Ali ibn Abi Talib (may Allah be gracious to him) because he gave a ring to a beggar while in ruku during prayer."<sup>56</sup> Many other commentaries also hold that this verse refers to Imam Ali including: Sunan al-Nisa'i, Tafsir al-Kabir by Tha'alibi,

The Verse of Guardianship

O ye who believe! Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and those vested with authority over you ('ul ul-'amr minkum). And if you quarrel about something, refer it to Allah and the Messenger.<sup>59</sup>

By the explanation of the Holy Prophet Muhammad, this verse is also one of the Quran references to the leadership of Imam Ali after the Holy Prophet and necessitates the obedience of the faithful to Allah, the Prophet, and those vested with authority over them. When this verse was revealed to the Holy Prophet, one of his great companions, Jabbir ibn 'Abdullah al-Ansari asked:

O Prophet of Allah! We know Allah and His messenger, but who are 'those vested with authority over you' ('ul ul-'amr) whose obedience Allah considers equal to that of Allah and the Prophet? The Holy Prophet replied those are my successors and the leaders of the Muslims after me. The first of them is Ali ibn Abi Talib, then al-Hassan and al-Husayn, then Ali ibn al-Husayn, then

And he will be the proof (hujjah) of Allah on the earth.

Prophetic Narrations Appointing Imam Ali as Successor

The Holy Prophet Muhammad told the Muslims both about the succession of the designated members of his family (Ahlul-Bayt), which will be dealt with in the next section, as well as, the specific succession of Imam Ali. The Messenger of Allah has been recorded to have said:

You are in the same position with relation to me as Aaron was with Moses, except that there will be no prophet after me.<sup>61</sup>

Ali was the one whom the Messenger of Allah left behind to watch over his family and the Islamic state during the battle of Khaybar, during which he said, “Is it for me to remain behind (when Allah’s Messenger has gone)?” Therefore, Ali went forth and joined the Messenger of Allah. At Khaybar the Muslims were struggling in their defense whereupon the Messenger of Allah said, “I will certainly give this standard (i.e. flag) to a man whom Allah and His Messenger love.” Other narrations say that the Holy Prophet said, “Allah will grant victory through the one who loves Allah and His Messenger.” In either case, the Holy Prophet Muhammad gave the standard to Ali, and Allah granted victory at his hand.<sup>68</sup>

Twelve Leaders to Succeed the Holy Prophet

In addition to the specific narrations specifically identifying Imam Ali as the successor to the Holy Prophet, the Holy Prophet also recorded to have said on numerous occasions that after him he would be succeeded by twelve leaders from his tribe, the tribe of Quraysh. The narrations say:

The Caliphate will remain among the Quraysh even if only two people are left (on the earth).<sup>69</sup>

I joined the company of the Holy Prophet with my father and heard him say, “This caliphate will not end until there have been twelve caliphs among them.” The narrator said, “Then he (the Holy Prophet) said something I could not follow.” I said to my father, “What did he say?” He said, “He has said, ‘all of them will be from Quraysh.’”<sup>70</sup>

Nevertheless, extensive research would show that the accurate version of the Holy Prophet hadiths is that ‘all of them will be from Bani Hashim,’ which are exclusive to the imams of Ahlul-Bayt.

Who are the Twelve Leaders?

The Holy Prophet has said:

I and Ali are the fathers of this nation. He who recognizes us as such believes in Allah,

Their ninth is their qa'im (the firmly established, the executor).<sup>72</sup>

The Ahlul-Bayt

The best way to introduce the Ahlul-Bayt to the Muslim nation is to recall what the Holy Quran says about them. Several verses of the Holy Quran refer specifically to the virtues of the Ahlul-Bayt and their outstanding position in Islam. Whenever the Holy Quran refers to the Ahlul-Bayt, it refers to a specific group of people who were related not only by blood, but most importantly, by ideology and faith to the Holy Prophet. However, it does not refer to all of his blood relations, nor his friends or his wives.

The Verse of Purity (Taharah)

Allah only desires to keep away uncleanliness from you, O People of the House (Ahlul-Bayt), and to make you as pure as possible.<sup>73</sup>

The prominent scholars of Islam and the narrators of the Prophetic tradition unanimously agree that Ahlul-Bayt (the household of the Holy Prophet ) which Almighty Allah uses in the Holy Quran refers to the daughter of the Holy Prophet, Lady Fatima al-Zahra, his cousin, Ali ibn Abi Talib, and their children Hassan and Husayn.<sup>74</sup> Tabarani narrates from one of the respected wives of the Holy Prophet, Um Salamah that the Messenger of Allah once told his daughter, Lady Fatima to call her husband Ali and their two sons, Hassan and Husayn. When they came, the Messenger of Allah covered them with a cloak, put his hand on them and said, “O Allah, these are the Al-i-Muhammad (the family of Muhammad), so shower Your blessings and favors upon the Al-i-Muhammad just as You showered them on the Al-i-Ibrahim. You are the Praiseworthy, the Glorious.” Um Salamah says that she raised the cloak to join them, but the Holy Prophet took it from her hand saying, “You are also on the right.”<sup>75</sup>

Although the beginning of verse 33:33 addresses the wives of the Holy Prophet and continues to address them up till the middle part of the verse, but upon reaching “ahlul-bayt” it excludes them.<sup>76</sup> While in the previous and subsequent statements towards the wives of the Holy Prophet are in the feminine pronouns and gender, this verse referring to the Ahlul-Bayt is in the masculine or mixed gender; thus, it is clearly not addressed to the wives of the Holy Prophet. However, even without the grammatical evidence, the relationship between some of the wives of the Holy Prophet does not fit the spirit of this verse which asserts the physical, mental, and spiritual purity of the family of the Holy Prophet.

To emphasize that the phrase “Ahlul-Bayt” in this verse refers only to five people—Prophet Muhammad, Ali, Lady Fatima, Hassan, and Husayn—narrators say that the Holy Prophet when passing his daughter, Lady Fatima’s house on the way to the mosque for the dawn prayers he would stop there and call, “To prayer, O Ahlul-Bayt, to prayer. Allah desires to keep away un-cleanliness from you, O Ahlul-Bayt, and to make you as pure as possible.”<sup>77</sup> Imam Anas ibn Malik adds that the Holy Prophet did this for six months every day on his way to the morning prayers at the mosque.<sup>78</sup>

The Verse of Affection (Muwaddah)

Say, I do not ask of you any reward for it (preaching the message) but love for my relatives (qurba, here refers to the Ahlul-Bayt<sup>79</sup>).<sup>80</sup>

When explaining this verse, Fakhr al-Din al-Razi says, “Without doubt, no one was as near to the Prophet as Lady Fatima, Ali, Hassan, and Husayn. This is a well-known fact of all chains of narration, that these are his ‘al’.” Thus, ‘al’ or ‘ahl’ refers only to the immediate family of the Holy Prophet—namely: Lady Fatima, Ali, Hassan, and Husayn.

Some argue that Hassan and Husayn are not the sons of the Holy Prophet since they are the sons of Imam Ali. Because according to old Arab custom, the mother was considered as only a means to deliver a child. Nonetheless, their direct lineage to the Holy Prophet is through their mother, Lady Fatima al-Zahra. It has been narrated that the ‘Abbasid caliph Harun al-Rashid asked the seventh imam of the school of Ahlul-Bayt, Imam Musa ibn Ja‘far how he could attribute himself to the Holy Prophet while he was the child of Ali and Lady Fatima—how could he be related to the Holy Prophet? The Imam then cited to him a verse that refers to the descendants of Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham), “And from his progeny were David (Dawud), Solomon (Sulayman), Job (Ayyub), Joseph (Yusuf), Moses (Musa), and Aaron (Harun)—thus do We reward the good-doers—and Zachariah (Zakariyya), and John (Yahya), and Jesus (Isaa), and Elias (Ilyas)—each one of them was of the righteous.”<sup>81</sup> The Imam then asked the caliph who the father of Isaa (Jesus) was. Harun answered that he was fatherless. The Imam replied, “Then you can see that Allah linked him to Ibrahim through his mother, Mariam and Allah did the same for us, linking us to Prophet Muhammad through our mother Lady Fatima al-Zahra.”<sup>82</sup>

In many instances, the Holy Prophet refers to Lady Fatima with intense love and affection, such as when he says, “Fatima is a part of me. Her happiness is my happiness, and her pain is my pain.” The Holy Prophet would also point towards the children of Fatima, Hassan and Husayn and say on many occasions, “These are my sons,” and “This is my son.” That is why the community of the companions in Madina would refer to both Hassan and Husayn as the ‘sons of Prophet Mohammad.’

The Verse of Malediction (Mubahilah)

But whoever disputes with you in this matter after what has come to you of knowledge, then say, ‘Come, let us call our sons and your sons, and our women and your women, and ourselves and yourselves, and let us beseech Allah and invoke His curse upon the liars.’<sup>83</sup>

This milestone event in the Islamic history has been narrated by all the historians, narrators, and commentators of the Quran. It is an event which reveals the exalted status of the Family of the Holy Prophet. The narrations say that a delegation of Christians from Najran came to the city of Madina in order to meet with the Holy Prophet to discuss his prophethood and the religion he was preaching. The Holy Prophet proved to them that Isaa (Jesus) was the son of Mary; he was a human being, a prophet, and a servant of Allah as the Quran states and that regarding him as the son of God is blasphemy, since Allah, the Exalted is high above such human characteristics. After discussing these points extensively the Holy Prophet found them still deliberately persisting in their false beliefs and traditions—namely on the deification of Prophet Isaa—Allah thus revealed the verse, which was a major challenge to the Christians, to pray and invoke upon Allah that a curse may overtake the party that insists on falsehood. Early the next morning, on the 24th of the lunar month of Dhul al-Hijjah, in accordance with Allah's command, the Holy Prophet arrived at the meeting holding Husayn in his arm while leading Hassan by his hand, followed by his beloved daughter, Lady Fatima and behind whom came his son-in-law and cousin, Ali ibn Abi Talib carrying the banner of Islam. Seeing that the Holy Prophet was accompanied only by his immediate family, the Christians were convinced that he was truthful because he would never have dared to bring his dearest kin along. The Christian delegation backed away from the malediction argument and agreed to return back to Najran.

Zamakhshari, in his Tafsir al-Kashshaf, narrates the event as:

When this verse was revealed, the Holy Prophet asked the Christians to the malediction, to invoke the curse of Allah upon the liars. The Christians held a discourse among themselves that night in which their leader, 'Abd al-Masih stated his views. He said, "O Christians, know that Muhammad is a God-sent prophet who has brought you the final message from your Lord. By God, no nation ever dared to challenge a prophet with malediction but that woe befell them. Not only would they perish, but their children would also be afflicted with the curse." Saying this—that it is better to reach a compromise with the Holy Prophet rather than challenge his truth and perish—'Abd al-Masih advised his party to stop hostilities and retain their religion by submitting to the Holy Prophet's terms. "So if you persist (for a confrontation) we will all perish. But if you, to keep your faith, refuse (to have a showdown) and remain as you are, then make peace with the man (the Holy Prophet) and return to your land." The next day, the Holy Prophet, carrying Husayn in his arms, leading Hassan by the hand, followed by his daughter Lady Fatima, behind whom came Ali, entered the appointed place and was heard saying to his family, "When I invoke Allah, second this invocation." The pontiff of Najran, upon seeing the Holy Prophet and his family, addressed the Christians, "O Christians! I am beholding such faces that if God wishes, for their sake, He would move mountains for them. Do not accept their challenge for malediction, for if you do, you would all perish, and there would remain no Christians on the face of the earth till the Day of Resurrection."<sup>84</sup> Heeding his advice,

Altogether 47 narrators and commentators of the Holy Quran from the four schools of thought narrate that the the Christians said to the Holy Prophet, “O Abul-Qasim, we have decided not to hold malediction with you. You keep your religion, and we will keep ours.” The Holy Prophet told them, “If you refuse to hold malediction, then submit to Allah, and you will receive what the Muslims receive and contribute what the Muslims contribute.” The Christians delegates, saying that they had no desire to fight the Muslims, proposed a treaty asking for peace. The Holy Prophet of Islam accepted.

Although other women were present in the family the Holy Prophet at that time, all the commentators, narrators, and historians agree that in reference to the Quran verse, “our women” refers only to Lady Fatima al-Zahra, “our children” refers only to Hassan and Husayn, and “ourselves” refers only to the Holy Prophet and Imam Ali.

The Verse of Prayer (Salat)

Surely Allah and His angels bless the Prophet. O ye who believe, call for divine blessings upon him, and salute him with a becoming salutation.<sup>85</sup>

During the five obligatory prayers, during the tashhahud (testimony), those offering their prayers must salute the Holy Prophet and his progeny—a term exclusively reserved for Ali, Lady Fatima, Hassan, Husayn, and their righteous descendants. The emphasis on the Holy Prophet’s family in salutation is another indication of their pivotal position after the Holy Prophet. By asking the believers to exalt them Allah, the Almighty reminds the Muslim nation that He has chosen the Ahlul-Bayt for the role of leading the Muslim nation.

One of the most prominent commentators of the Quran, Fakhr al-Din al-Razi narrates the response of the Holy Prophet when he was asked by some of his companions how to send blessings upon him. He said, “Say, ‘O Allah, send blessings on Muhammad and on the progeny of Muhammad as you sent blessings on Ibrahim and on the progeny of Ibrahim. And send grace on Muhammad and on the progeny of Muhammad just as you sent grace on Ibrahim and on the progeny of Ibrahim. You are the Praiseworthy, the Glorious.’”<sup>86</sup> Al-Razi comments that if Allah and His angels send their blessings upon the Holy Prophet, then what need is there for our blessings? He answers his own question by saying that when we send blessings on the Holy Prophet it is not because he is in need of them; since he already has the blessings of Allah, he does not even require the blessings of the angels. When we send blessings on him, we send them to glorify Allah and also to reveal our gratitude towards Allah so that He may have compassion on us and reward us. Thus, the Holy Prophet says, “Whoever sends blessings on me once, Allah will send blessings on him ten times.”

Another verse in the Holy Quran asserts the same teaching when Allah the Almighty sends His blessings on the family of the Holy Prophet by saying, “Peace be upon the Al-i-Yasin!”<sup>87</sup> According to some commentators, “Yasin” is one of the names of the Holy Prophet, as stated in sura (chapter) Ya Sin when it addresses the Holy Prophet as, “Yasin, by the Quran full of wisdom, truly you are one of the messengers....”<sup>88</sup>

The Verse of Feeding

Truly, the righteous drink of a cup tempered with camphor, a fountain from which the servants of Allah drink, flowing in abundance. They (the Family of the Holy Prophet) fulfill vows and fear a Day, the evil of which is widespread. And they give food out of love for Him to the poor and the orphan and the captive. ‘We feed you for Allah’s sake and pleasure only. We desire from you neither reward nor thanks. Surely, we fear from our Lord a stern, distressful Day,' so Allah will ward off from them the evil of that Day and cause them to meet with splendor and happiness and reward them for their steadfastness with a garden and with silk.<sup>89</sup>

Sura 76 in the Holy Quran descended to honor a sacred gesture performed by the Ahlul-Bayt. Allah entitled this sura, Mankind to draw attention of the people to the beauty of mankind's deeds on earth, and to tell them that they should not be selfish or greedy; but rather, they should be caring and thoughtful people who spend their time thinking of other human beings around them. The chapter begins, "Has there not been over man a period of time when he was nothing to be mentioned? Verily, We have created man from drops of mixed semen in order to try him, so We made him hearing, seeing. Verily, We showed him the way, whether he be grateful or ungrateful."

This introduction prepares our minds for the big sacrifice of the Family of the Holy Prophet—Ali, Lady Fatima, Hassan, Husayn, and their maidservant Fiddah. The incident provoking these verses began when Hassan and Husayn fell ill, and Lady Fatima al-Zahra asked her father what to do. The Holy Prophet advised her to make a vow with Allah that if He cured them then the entire family would fast for three days. Hassan and Husayn were cured, and the process of fasting began. At the time there was nothing in their house to eat, so Imam Ali went to a Khaybarian Jew named Shimon and borrowed three measures of barley. His wife, Lady Fatima milled one measure into flour and baked it into five loaves of bread, one for each of them. Ali, Lady Fatima, and their two sons, Hassan and Husayn along with their maidservant Fiddah fasted for three consecutive days. On the first day, at the time of breaking the fast, a destitute (misikin) person came to the door asking for some food. They took the food they intended to eat—a loaf of bread each—and gave it to him. They then broke their fast only with water. On the second day, at the time of breaking the fast, an orphan came to their door, and they again gave him all their food. On the third day, at the time of breaking the fast, a prisoner of war (who had been captured in the defensive wars of Islam and was living in the city of Madina) came to their door and asked for some food, and again, they took all five loaves of bread and gave them to the man thus breaking their fast for the third consecutive day with only water. Afterwards, the Messenger of Allah made a visit and saw his daughter, Lady Fatima al-Zahra and her two children, Hassan and Husayn were pale and too weak to speak, and he saw that they were trembling from hunger. Lady Fatima herself was sitting hollow-eyed on her prayer mat, her stomach sunk into her back. As he was asking them for the reason of their state, angel Jibril immediately came to the Holy Prophet with sura 76, “O Muhammad, Allah congratulates you for the sacrifice of your household.”<sup>90</sup>

These verses not only translate the generosity and steadfastness of the Ahlul-Bayt but also reveal the total submission of the Family of the Holy Prophet and their immaculate and pure personalities. Quran commentators have a consensus that these verses speak of the Ahlul-Bayt and place them at the top of piety and show them as models for the generosity of mankind. Humanity would be rightly guided by their parable.

The Verse of Guardianship

O ye who believe! Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and those vested with authority over you ('ul ul-'amr minkum). And if you quarrel about something, refer it to Allah and the Messenger.<sup>91</sup>

This verse, as explained in the previous section, refers to the guardianship of Imam Ali, and subsequently, the rest of the Ahlul-Bayt. The Holy Prophet has said about “those vested with authority over you,” “Those are my successors and the leaders of the Muslims after me. The first of them is Ali ibn Abi Talib, then al-Hassan and al-Husayn, then Ali ibn al-Husayn, then Muhammad ibn Ali, who is known as al-Baqir, then al-Sadiq Ja'far ibn Muhammad, then Musa ibn Ja'far, then Ali ibn Musa, then Muhammad ibn Ali, then Ali ibn Muhammad, then al-Hassan ibn Ali, then the one who bears my name—Muhammad. ## The Hadith of the Two Weighty Things (Thaqalayn)

It is probable that I will be called soon, and I will respond. So I leave behind me two weighty (very worthy and important) things, the Book of Allah (the Quran), which is a string stretched from the heaven to the earth; and my progeny, my Ahlul-Bayt. Verily Allah, the Merciful, the Aware, has informed me that these two will never be separated from each other until they meet me at the Fountain of Abundance (the Hawdh of Kawthar, a spring in heaven). Therefore, be careful how you treat these two in my absence, said the Messenger of Allah.<sup>93</sup>

This hadith was declared on, at least, five occasions—the first during the farewell speech during the farewell hajj, the second at Ghadir Khum, the third after the Holy Prophet left the city of Ta'if near Makkah, the fourth at the pulpit in Madina, and the fifth—just before he died—in his room which was full of his Companions.

Given the high importance of the Holy Quran, why would the Holy Prophet associate the Ahlul-Bayt with the Holy Quran and place them second in importance to it? The answer is that Ahlul-Bayt are the best to explain the true meaning and interpretation of the Holy Quran. The Holy Quran, as it states itself, contains both clear (muhkam) and unclear (mutashabah) verses, and so the correct interpretation of these unclear verses must be passed on from the Holy Prophet himself, as he did to his Ahlul-Bayt. In addition, the Ahlul-Bayt, due to their closeness to the Holy Prophet, had an unparalleled knowledge of his tradition.

Similar Narrations from the Holy Prophet Muhammad on his Ahlul-Bayt

The parable of my Ahlul-Bayt is similar to that of Noah's ark. Whoever embarks it will certainly be rescued, but the one who opposes boarding it will certainly be drowned.<sup>94</sup>

As the stars protect mankind from losing its way in travel, so are my Ahlul-Bayt; they are the safeguard against discord in matters of religion.<sup>95</sup>

Infallibility

The Shi'a school of thought maintains the belief that all the prophets of Allah, from Adam to Muhammad, as well as, the twelve successors (imams) to the Holy Prophet Muhammad and his daughter, Lady Fatima al-Zahra were infallible throughout their entire lives and never committed any type of sin that would dissatisfy Allah. The clearest way to see this point is to consider that these people were the examples sent for humanity to follow, and so, if they committed errors then people would be obliged to follow their errors, thereby rendering the prophets and messengers unreliable.

Infallibility means protection. In Islamic terminology it means the spiritual grace of Allah enabling a person to abstain from sins by his/her own free will. The power of infallibility or without sin does not make a person incapable of committing sins but rather he/she refrains from sins and mistakes by his/her own power and will.

Infallibility is essential to the prophets and messengers since their job is not only to convey the divine scriptures of Allah but also to lead and guide humanity towards the right path. Therefore, they must be role models and perfect examples for all mankind. Both the Holy Quran and conventional wisdom illustrate this point; the Holy Quran mentions infallibility thirteen times. Allah says to Satan, “Certainly you shall have no authority over My servants except those who follow you and go astray.”<sup>97</sup> Satan thus replied to Allah, “By Your might, I will surely mislead them all, except Your chosen servants among them (the messengers and the imams).”<sup>98</sup>

There are some verses in the Holy Quran which might imply that some of the prophets (such as Adam, Musa (Moses), or Yunus (Jonah)) committed sins. As for Prophet Adam, he did not disobey the obligatory commands of Allah; the command that he did not honor was a recommended one not a mandatory one and so—according to Islamic terminology—he did not commit a sin. When speaking about the disobedience of Prophet Adam, the Holy Quran does not mean disobedience in the literal term; it means that it is not expected from a person like Prophet Adam, who is a leader for humanity, not to adhere to Allah’s advisory commands. Therefore, such an act is labeled allegorically as a sin in the Holy Quran. “And indeed We made a covenant with Adam before, but he forgot, and We found on his part no firm will-power (‘azm).” His guilt was that he did not demonstrate will-power not that he violated Allah’s rules since the commands were advisory not obligatory. As a result of his behavior, he was to lose the privilege granted to him, “Verily, you have a promise from Us that you will never be hungry therein, nor naked, and you will not suffer from thirst therein, nor from the sun's heat.”<sup>99</sup>

As for Prophet Musa, the Holy Quran says about him, “And they have a charge of crime against me, and I fear they will kill me.”<sup>100</sup> This charge came about when he pushed a man and inadvertently killed him. At that time, Prophet Musa was defending one of his tribesmen, and when he pushed the man from the people of Pharaoh it happened that the man was so weak that he fell to the ground and died. Prophet Musa did not intend to kill him, but instead fled the scene because he did not want to fall captive to Pharaoh and his army, which was searching for him. When Prophet Musa speaks of them having a “charge of crime” against him, he is reiterating the accusations of the Pharaoh's people, not necessarily believing that those accusations are true.

The case of Prophet Yunus (Jonah) is similar. The Quran says, “And remember, when he went off in anger, and he imagined that We would not confine him. But he cried through the darkness, saying, ‘There is no Lord except You. Glory be to You! Surely, I have been one of those who did injustice to their own souls.’”<sup>101</sup> In this case, Prophet Yunus meant that he had been wrong to himself, but wrongdoing to one's self is neither a sin nor a mistake. His “wrongdoing to himself” was being impatient with his followers and fleeing from them when they persisted in rejecting his call to worship Allah, and ridiculed him until he left them to face their grave destiny.

Most of the verses of the Holy Quran which might imply that the Holy Prophet Muhammad committed a sin have deeper hermeneutic interpretations. Not all of the verses of the Quran are meant to be taken literally; a deeper meaning lies behind many of them. “It is He who has sent down to you the Book. In it are verses that are entirely clear. They are the foundations of the book. And (there are) others not entirely clear (i.e. allegorical), so as for those in whose hearts there is a deviation, they follow that which is not entirely clear thereof, seeking dispute (fitna) and seeking to divert the true meaning. But none knows the hidden meanings save Allah and those firmly grounded in knowledge (the Holy Prophet and the Ahul-Bayt).”<sup>102</sup> Furthermore, the character and general respect accorded to the Holy Prophet shows without a doubt that he was not one of the wrongdoers.

Inappropriate narrations are found in some books of hadith regarding violations committed by various prophets of Allah. For example, Imam al-Bukhari narrates:

Umar sought permission from the Messenger of Allah to visit him when some women of Quraysh were busy talking with him and raising their voices above his voice. When Umar sought permission, they stood up and went hurriedly behind the curtain. The Messenger of Allah gave him permission smilingly. Thereupon Umar said, ‘O Messenger of Allah, may Allah keep you

happy all your life.’ Then the Messenger of Allah said, ‘I wonder at those women who were with me, and no sooner did they hear your voice than they immediately wore the hejab.’<sup>103</sup>

Similarly, Imam Muslim narrates:

Abu Bakr came to see me (the Holy Prophet Muhammad) and I had two girls with me from among the girls of the Ansar, and they were singing what the Ansar recited to one another at the Battle of Bu’ath. They were not however singing girls. Upon (seeing) this, Abu Bakr said, ‘What? This wind instrument of Satan (being played) in the house of the Messenger of Allah, and this too on Eid (Muslim holiday) day?’ At this, the Messenger of Allah said, ‘Abu Bakr, every people have a festival, and this is our festival (so let them play on).’<sup>104</sup>

It has also been narrated that the Holy Prophet Muhammad was seen standing and urinating in public.<sup>105</sup> Clearly, acts which the first and second caliphs and the laymen alike would consider un-Islamic would not have been done openly by the Holy Prophet of Allah. No Muslim would accept such behavior from the leader of humanity whose example the Holy Quran commands to be followed in all aspects. In the books of hadith, there are other unreliable narrations which contradict wisdom and common sense.

Similar narrations also exist about some of the other prophets of Allah, for example:

The Angel of Death came to Musa and said, 'Respond to (the call of) Allah (i.e. be prepared for death).' Musa gave a blow at the eye of the Angel of Death and knocked it out. The Angel went back to Allah and said, 'You sent me to your servant who does not want to die, and he knocked out my eye.' Allah restored his eye.<sup>106</sup> and charges would be brought against him. Such behavior is completely unbelievable if that person is one of the five universal Prophets sent to guide, enlighten, and educate people by their fine examples and morality. Why would one, such as Prophet Musa attack the Angel of Death who came to bring him closer to Allah? Narrations like this one are completely unacceptable. Muslims must open their eyes to such stories in the books of hadith which have no harmony with the teachings of the Holy Quran.

Intercession (Shifa'ah)

The issue of intercession (shifa'ah) is one of the most controversial issues within Islam. The Shi'a school of thought and some schools within the Sunni tradition believe in the concept of intercession, while others, like Whahabism reject it and say that whoever believes in it is not a Muslim; a heretic. The Quran addresses this issue in three manners. First, there are verses which negate the shifa'ah, such as 2:123 and 2:254. Second, there are verses which say that the shifa'ah is exclusively the domain of Allah—He and only He has the ability to intercede, such as in 6:70 and 39:44. Third, there are verses which take precedence over the first two categories and it is in these verses that the power and ability of shifa'ah is best defined. They state that while the shifa'ah is the absolute right of Allah; nevertheless, if He wishes, He could extend it to certain people of His creation. The Quran states:

Who is he that can intercede with Him except with His permission?<sup>108</sup>

On that Day, no intercession shall avail, except the one from whom Allah, the Most Gracious has given permission and whose word is acceptable to Him.<sup>109</sup>

And they cannot intercede, except for Him with whom He is pleased.<sup>110</sup>

None shall have the power of intercession except such a one as has received permission or a promise from Allah, the Most Gracious.<sup>111</sup>

Intercession with Him profits not except for He whom He permits.<sup>112</sup>

According to these verses, certain people will have permission from Allah—such as prophets, imams, and awliya' (intimate friend of Allah)—to intercede and help people by the permission of Allah. Without His permission, no intercession will be accepted. Even during their lifetime, prophets had the ability to intercede on behalf of those who repented and sought forgiveness and returned to the path of Allah. Allah states:

We sent no messenger but to be obeyed by the leave of Allah. If they who have been unjust to themselves had come to you (Prophet Muhammad) and begged Allah's forgiveness, and the Messenger had begged forgiveness for them—indeed they would have found Allah All-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>113</sup>

(The brothers of Yusuf) said, "O our father! Ask forgiveness from Allah for our sins. Indeed, we have been sinners." He said, "I will ask my Lord for forgiveness for you." Verily, He, only He, is the Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>114</sup>

The Holy Prophet Muhammad has also mentioned his own intercession:

I will be interceding on the Day of Judgment for whoever has faith in his heart.<sup>115</sup>

Each prophet before me asked Allah for something which he was granted, and I

My intercession will be for the people who committed the cardinal sins (al-kaba'ir) except shirk and dhulm (polytheism and oppression).<sup>117</sup>

The intercessors are five: the Quran, near relatives, trusts (amanah), your Prophet, and the family of your Prophet.<sup>118</sup>

Shifa'ah is not to ask the Prophet or the imams for protection or to ward off calamity or to bring happiness and success. Rather, it is to plead to Allah, the Almighty by the sake of those who are near to Him, like the prophets and the imams.

As the Holy Quran asserts, only those who receive promise and permission from Allah can intercede and help people on the Day of Judgment. Intercession will be for those with good intentions and good belief in this life, who neither defied Allah nor challenged His authority and yet, perhaps fell behind in part of their religious obligations. Their good record will help them to receive the intercession of the messengers, the imams, and the believers on the Day of Judgment.

Calling Upon the Holy Prophet and the Imams for Help

Calling upon the Holy Prophet and the imams (also called istighathat al-nabi wal-a'immah) is allegorical, not literal. The Holy Quran teaches people to worship and seek help from Allah (“iyyaka na‘budu wa iyyaka nasta‘in”). However, the allegorical seeking of help is permitted by the example of the Holy Quran. For example, in the story of Prophet Musa (Moses), “And he found there two men fighting—one from his party (shi‘a), the other from his foes. The man of his own party asked him (istighathahu) for help against his foe, so Musa struck him with his fist and killed him.”<sup>120</sup>

Many of the narrators of hadith narrate a prayer (du‘a) from the Holy Prophet which begins, “O my Lord! I turn to you by your Prophet, the Prophet of Mercy (Allahumma, inni atawajjahu ilayka bi nabiyyika nabi al-rahma...).” Then it says, “O Muhammad! I turn to Allah by you to solve my difficulties.”<sup>121</sup> Again, it is narrated that the feet of ‘Abdullah ibn Umar al-Khattab became disabled and would no longer carry him. After being told to call upon the closest people to his heart, he said, “Wa Muhammada!” His feet were cured and worked properly again.<sup>122</sup> The Holy Quran teaches us to “seek help through patience and prayer (sabr and salat).”<sup>123</sup> Sabr (according to Quran commentators, “sabr” in this context refers to fasting) and salat (prayers) are means which lead ultimately to Allah. Thus calling upon the Holy Prophet or Imam Ali is allegorical since all agree that Allah is the means of support, aid, and assistance.

Some Muslims associate calling upon the Holy Prophet or the imams with shirk (heresy). They argue that a person should not ask any person for help. But if a person is faced with a problem in life, then would this person not logically and naturally call upon a person nearby for help? If a person was about to drown and he called out for help, then would his seeking of help from one other than Allah make him a mushrik (associating one with Allah)? By the same reasoning, calling upon the Holy Prophet or the imams is not shirk. The argument that they cannot be called upon because they are dead is also invalid, since the Quran falsifies the notion of the martyrs as being dead, “Think not of those who are killed in the way of Allah as dead. Nay, they are alive with their Lord, and they have provision.”<sup>124</sup> “And say not of those who are killed in the way of Allah, ‘They are dead.’ Nay, they are living, but you perceive it not.”<sup>125</sup> If an ordinary Muslim was martyred (for the cause of Allah) is considered to be alive, then how could the Holy Prophet and his family, who were not only martyrs but whose rank also surpassed that of all other human beings, be considered dead? Calling upon the Holy Prophet and his family does not negate the fact that Allah is the source of help and rescue in this universe. However, because these people are closest to Him, and because they enjoy a special status with Him, calling upon them means calling upon Allah for the sake of those whom He loves.

Imam al-Mahdi

All Muslims agree that at the end of time Imam al-Mahdi will reappear to make justice prevail on earth after being overwhelmed with injustice, corruption, and tyranny. However, the dispute between the different schools of thought is as to who he is, and whether or not he has been born yet. Great scholars emphasize that the al-Mahdi is coming and is a member of the Ahlul-Bayt (the Family of the Prophet):

Imam al-Bukhari narrates from the Holy Prophet Muhammad, “How will you feel once the son of Mary descends among you, and your leader (imam) is from you?”<sup>126</sup>

Imam Muslim narrates from the Holy Prophet Muhammad, “A caliph will be appearing at the end of time from my nation.” Timridhi and Abu Dawud, commenting on this hadith, say that this caliph will be the al-Mahdi.<sup>127</sup>

Abu Dawud narrates from the Holy Prophet, “If there remained but a single day till the end of time, Allah would prolong that day till He sent a man from my progeny whose name will be like mine who fill the earth with justice and equity as it had been filled with oppression and tyranny.”<sup>128</sup>

Ibn Majah narrates from the Holy Prophet Muhammad, “We are the Ahlul-Bayt for whom Allah has chosen the hereafter to this world. My Ahlul-Bayt after me will face difficulties, hardships, and persecution in the land until a people will come from the East, bearers of black banners. They will demand the right, but it will be denied. So they will fight and emerge victorious. They will be given what they demanded but will not accept it till they give the right to rule to a man from my Ahlul-Bayt who will fill the earth with justice as it was filled with oppression.”<sup>129</sup>

Ibn Majah also narrates from the Holy Prophet Muhammad, “The al-Mahdi is from us, the Ahlul-Bayt. The al-Mahdi is among the children of Fatima.”<sup>130</sup>

Tirmidhi narrates from the Holy Prophet Muhammad, “A man from my Ahlul-Bayt whose name is like mine will verily rule the world and if there remains but a single day before the end of time, Allah will prolong that day till he assumes rule.”<sup>131</sup>

According to the Shi’a school of thought, Imam Muhammad ibn al-Hassan al-Mahdi was born in 255H (869AD) on the 15th of the month of Sha’ban in the city of Samarra in northern Iraq. His father was Imam Hassan al-Askari, whose lineage traces back to Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib, and his mother was named Narjiss.

He is the last of the imams of the people on earth, and with him the line of succession to the Holy Prophet ends. Because of the necessity of having a representative from Allah present on earth, he is still, by the will of Allah, living in this world—but out of public view. He will, however, reappear towards the end of human civilization to restore order and justice at a time when the world has been filled with evil and injustice.

Muntakab al-Athar. Allahah Lutfullah Safi, which includes over sixty hadiths from the Sunni sources and ninety hadiths from the Shi’a sources.

Although the idea of Imam al-Mahdi still being alive after nearly thirteen centuries is difficult for some people to phantom; nonetheless, the Holy Quran sets several examples of prophets who lived even longer than the al-Mahdi has lived, such as Prophet Isaa (Jesus), and al-Khidr (see Quran, 18:60-82 for his story with Prophet Musa). The Holy Quran also gives two other examples about people who died and then were resurrected by Allah. One is the example of the Companions of the Cave (ashab al-kahf; see Quran, 18:25). The other is the example of ‘Uzayr:

Or like the one who passed by the town, and it had tumbled over its roofs. He said, ‘How will Allah ever bring it alive after its death?’ So Allah caused him to die for a hundred years and raised him up again. He said, ‘How long did you remain dead?’ He replied, ‘Perhaps I remained dead a day, or part of a day.’ He said, ‘Nay! You have remained dead for a hundred years. Look at your food and drink. They show no change.’<sup>132</sup>

Furthermore, if Allah allows Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham), Prophet Musa, and Prophet Isaa to perform certain miracles, then allowing the al-Mahdi to live for such an extended period of time would not be difficult for Him, for He is capable of doing all things.

Dissimulation (Taqiyyah)

Taqiyyah the practice of hiding one's belief under duress is mentioned in the Holy Quran in three places:

Let not the believers take the disbelievers as guardians instead of the believers, and whoever does that will never be helped by Allah in any way, unless you indeed fear a danger from them (illa an tattaqu minhum tuqat).<sup>133</sup>

Whoever disbelieved in Allah after his belief—except him who is forced thereto and whose heart is at rest with faith.<sup>134</sup>

And a believing man of Pharaoh's family who hid his faith....<sup>135</sup>

These three verses clearly point to the permissibility of concealing one's ideology and opinion whenever in danger. Those living in countries with zero tolerance for the followers of the Ahlul-Bayt, where democracy is absent and tyranny, oppression, and abuse of human rights are rampant, and people are subjected to persecution, torture, and killing on account of their beliefs should, according to the Quranic teachings, practice taqiyyah; to conceal their lives, wealth, properties, families, and friends. Taqiyyah should only be practiced whenever there is fear of danger or harm. If there is no fear of danger or harm, such as for the Muslims in the United States of America and Europe, then taqiyyah should not be practiced. Sura 16:106 illustrates this point, as it was revealed to allow some of the companions of the Holy Prophet in Makkah to express disbelief with their tongues and hide their true faith in their hearts when they were being tortured by Abu Sufyan. Even the most prominent companion of the Holy Prophet, 'Ammar ibn Yassir declared to disbelief when the infidels were torturing him in Makkah. People came to the Holy Prophet and complained that 'Ammar had become a disbeliever, a kafir. The Holy Prophet replied, "No, indeed 'Ammar is full of faith (iman) from head to toe," and he told 'Ammar that if the disbelievers were to torture him again, then he should again deny his faith in public. This story is also mentioned in explanation of Quran,16:106.

The first person in Islam to practice taqiyyah was the Messenger of Allah himself; when he concealed his mission in the beginning of Islam. For three years,<sup>136</sup> his mission was very secret, and in order to protect the message and the ideas he was carrying, he did not reveal them to the Quraysh until Allah commanded him to speak openly. “Therefore, proclaim openly the message of Allah—that which you are commanded—and turn away from the idolaters,” as Allah instructed the Holy Prophet.<sup>137</sup> Afterwards, the Holy Prophet began openly inviting people to Islam after this period of taqiyyah. Moreover, Islamic history shows that many prominent leaders, of all schools of thought, from various recorded traditions practiced taqiyyah on different occasions. Such as, Imam Abu Hanifah when he gave verdicts to abandon prayers and break fast during the month of Ramadan for the person who was being coerced. Similarly, Imam Malik was obliged to use high levels of diplomacy with the Umayyad and ‘Abbasid dynasties by using sura 3:28 as justification. Imam Shafi’i also used taqiyyah in his verdict regarding a man who swore falsely by the name of Allah under coercion that he would not pay the kaffarah (expiation).<sup>138</sup> Imam al-Ghazzali narrates that protecting the Muslim blood is obligatory thus lying is obligatory in order to prevent shedding the blood of a Muslim.<sup>139</sup>

Some people associate taqiyyah with nifaa (hypocrisy). However, hypocrisy is defined as falsely displaying faith (iman) while hiding disbelief (kufra), whereas taqiyyah is showing agreement, while in the heart there is disagreement in order to protect one’s self, family, money, or religion.

Seeing Allah (Ru'yat Allah)

The Shi'a school of thought absolutely denies that Allah can be seen since He has no image or body. However, other schools of thought accept several hadiths that not only claim that Allah has physical parts; but also, He will be seen on the Day of Judgment just as any other object is seen. They also claim that Allah occupies space and travels from one place to another. The basis for these arguments is hadiths and not the Holy Quran. Some of these narrations are as follows:

Our Lord, before creating His creation, did not have anything with Him, underneath Him was air, above Him was air, then he created His throne on water.<sup>140</sup>

(On the Day of Judgment) It will be said to Hell, 'Are you filled up?' It will say, 'Are there any more?' So the Lord, Blessed and

Exalted is He will put His leg into it, whereupon it will say, ‘Now I am full!’<sup>141</sup>

We were sitting with the Messenger of Allah when he looked at the full moon and observed, ‘You shall see your Lord as you are seeing this moon, and you will not be harmed by seeing Him.’<sup>142</sup>

The last narration, in particular, asserts that people will see Allah with their physical eyes, regardless of whether they are among the good or among the hypocrites. Seeing Allah means that Allah must have a physical body and must occupy physical space. Imam Malik ibn Anas and Imam al-Shafi’i accept this opinion, and Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal considers this belief among the fundamentals of the religion.

The opinion of the followers of the Ahlul-Bayt is that seeing Allah is impossible. This view is supported by the Holy Quran and logic. The Holy Quran says clearly, “No vision can grasp Him, but His grasp is over all vision.”<sup>143</sup> Furthermore, there are multiple examples of people asking to see Allah and the response of Allah, the Exalted has been:

And remember when you said, ‘O people of Musa, We shall never believe in you till we see Allah plainly.’ But you were seized with a thunderbolt while you were looking. Then We raised you up after death so that you might be grateful.<sup>144</sup>

The People of the Scripture ask you (O Muhammad) to cause a book to descend upon them from Heaven. Indeed, they asked Musa for even greater than that when they said, ‘Show us Allah in public,’ but they were struck with thunder and lightening for their wickedness.<sup>145</sup>

And those who expect not a meeting with Us say, ‘Why are not the angels sent down to us?’ or ‘Why do we not see our Lord?’ Indeed, they think too highly of themselves and are scornful with great pride.<sup>146</sup>

When Musa came to the place appointed by Us, and his Lord addressed him, he said, ‘O Lord! Show Yourself to me so that I may look upon You.’ Allah said, ‘By no means can you see Me, but look at the mountain—

if it abides in its place then you shall see Me.’ When his Lord manifested His glory to the mountain, he made it like dust, and Musa fell in a swoon. When he recovered his senses, he said, ‘Glory be to You. To You do I turn in repentance and I am the first to believe.’<sup>147</sup>

If seeing Allah were impossible for the prophets and messengers of Allah then it is clearly impossible for all other people as well; either during this life or the Hereafter.

Logically speaking, in order to see an object, the object must have several qualities. First, it must have a specific direction, such as in front of or to the left or right of the observer. Second, a distance must exist between the one seeing and the thing being seen. Seeing would be impossible if the distance became longer or shorter. Allah the Almighty is not a physical object that we can pin-point and ultimately see, nor does He occupy space. Although the Holy Quran says, “He is the Supreme, watching over His worshippers,”<sup>148</sup> and “They revere their Lord high above them”<sup>149</sup>—“above them”—refers to the Almighty being above His servants in His might, power, and loftiness not in place, space, area, elevation, or physical location. Such qualities do not apply to Him. During his ascension to Heaven, the Holy Prophet called upon his Lord by the words, “You are as You have praised Your own Self.” While Prophet Yunis called upon his Lord from the bottom of the sea saying, “There is no God but You! Glory be to You!”<sup>150</sup> Regarding Prophet Yunis, the Holy Prophet Muhammad has said, “Do not exalt me over him in nearness to Allah just because I reached the high throne, whereas he was in the bottom of the sea, for the adored One is above being confined to a space or a direction.”

Imam Ali was asked by one of his companions, Tha’lab al-Yamani whether he had seen his Lord. Imam Ali replied, “How could I worship something that I do not see?” When asked how he saw Him, Imam Ali replied, “Eyes do not reach Him with physical sight, but the hearts reach Him with the realities of belief.”<sup>151</sup> There are many things which people cannot reach and have no physical access to but which people still believe in. Imam Ja’far al-Sadiq was once asked, “Could Allah be seen on the Day of Resurrection?” His answer was, “Be He exalted and glorified from that! The eyes would reach an object which has color and shape, but Allah, the Exalted, is the Creator of colors and shapes.”

Similar aspects of Allah, such as His “hand” or His “face” are also meant as allegorically. The “Hand of Allah” refers to His power and might, and “His Face” refers to different things. The first step in the oneness and monotheism of Allah is the understanding that Allah is not a body and will never be seen and that He is unique, as the Holy Quran states, “There is nothing like unto Him.”<sup>152</sup>

The Prayers Upon the Holy Prophet

(Salat 'ala an-Nabi)

Muslims are commanded by the Holy Quran (33:56) to send their prayers upon the Holy Prophet Muhammad. The Holy Prophet has indicated how to do this and also commands his followers not to send their prayers upon himself alone but always to send their prayers simultaneously upon his family as well. The Holy Prophet has said:

‘Do not send me an amputated prayer.’ The companions asked, ‘What is an amputated prayer?’ He said, ‘When you say, ‘Allahumma, salli 'ala Muhammad’ and stop. You should say, ‘Allahumma, salli 'ala Muhammad wa al-i-Muhammad.’<sup>153</sup>

Supplication will be intercepted (not accepted) until it is prayed upon the Prophet and his family.<sup>154</sup>

On the authority of ‘Abdullah ibn Abi Layla, as reported by Imam al-Bukhari, the Messenger of Allah came to us and we said to him, ‘We have learnt how to invoke peace upon you; how should we pray for you?’ He (the Holy Prophet) said, ‘Say: O Allah, bless Muhammad and his family as You blessed the family of Ibrahim. Verily, You are the Praiseworthy, the Glorious. Grant favor to Muhammad and the members of his household as You granted favor to the members of the household of Ibrahim in the world. Verily, You are the Praiseworthy, the Glorious.’<sup>155</sup>

When teaching his companions the salat (prayer), the Holy Prophet specifically included his progeny (al-i-Muhammad). Hence, Muslims must adhere to the teachings of the Holy Prophet and send blessings upon those whom he has commanded.

Issues Pertaining to the Practice of the Prayers

Wiping the Feet During Ablution (Wudu)

The followers of the Ahlul-Bayt follow what the Holy Quran teaches them to do during wudu (ablution) by wiping their feet instead of washing them since the Holy Quran commands, “O you who believe! When you intend your prayers, wash your faces and your hands from the elbows and wipe (by passing wet hands over) your head and your feet up to the ankles.”<sup>156</sup> Those who practice the washing of their feet during wudu argue that “your feet” in the Holy Quran is linked to washing the face, whereas the followers of the Ahlul-Bayt argue that “your feet” is linked to rubbing the head; therefore, it should be wiped not washed.

In support of the latter view, Ibn ‘Abbas narrates from the Holy Prophet, that they used to rub their feet during the time of the Holy Prophet.<sup>157</sup> Undoubtedly, all Muslims at the time of the Holy Messenger of Allah used to perform wudu in the same way. No disagreements occurred between them since the Messenger of Allah was present among them and all the Muslims used to submit their disagreements to him in accordance with the Holy Quran, “And if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allah and His Messenger.”<sup>158</sup> The same situation existed during the time of the first caliph, Abu Bakr (11-13H); no disagreements over the performance of wudu have been reported from that time period either. Similar was the period of the second caliph, ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab (13-23H), except for the fact, that he allowed wiping of the socks rather than the bare feet as the Holy Quran directs (5:6). However, the disagreement regarding the performance of the wudu began during the time of the third caliph, ‘Uthman ibn Affan (23-35H) when he began to wash his feet instead of wiping them.<sup>159</sup> Al-Muttaqi al-Hindi, in his book Kanz al-‘Ummal<sup>160</sup> mentions that the third caliph, ‘Uthman ibn Affan was the first to differ during his caliphate in performing the wudu. In Sahih al-Muslim<sup>161</sup> and Kanz al-‘Ummal,<sup>162</sup> ‘Uthman ibn Affan says that during his caliphate, some of the companions of the Holy Prophet who performed the wudu differently than himself attributed their practice to the Holy Prophet. More than twenty narrations—all narrated by the third caliph—are about the new manner of performing wudu. These traditions indicate his establishment of the new method.

Some prominent Muslim historians, such as Ibn Abi al-Hadid al-Mu’tazili<sup>163</sup> regard this trend as nothing new in the tradition of the third caliph since the third caliph was known for his numerous introductions. There is a near consensus among the Muslim historians that the third caliph, 'Uthman was murdered by Muslim revolutionaries in 35H. because of political and financial issues. However, other Muslim historians interpret the third caliph's introductions (regarding some of the religious rules during the last six years of his caliphate) as a departure from the tradition of the first and second caliphs. The majority of the Muslims during his caliphate looked at the third caliph as a follower of the first and second caliphs, and the implementer of their practices. Since the third caliph witnessed numerous introductions during the time of the second caliph, and since he saw himself religiously and intellectually no less than his predecessors<sup>164</sup> he thus decided to depart from the previous policy and have an independent opinion regarding different political, financial, and jurisprudential issues such as, washing the feet during wudu.

Although some people today consider washing the feet to lead to better cleanliness and hygiene than merely wiping the feet; however, Allah the Almighty who legislated all the acts of worship, including the wudu, is more aware of the advantages and disadvantages of washing or wiping the feet. It has been narrated that Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib said, "If religion were according to human opinion, the bottom of the foot would be more worthy of wiping than the top. But I saw the Messenger of Allah wiping the top of his foot."<sup>165</sup>

Combining the Prayers

All Muslims agree that there are five mandatory prayers throughout the day and night. They also agree that these five daily prayers have specific times in which they must be performed, and that combining the prayers is, at least, sometimes permissible (saying the dhuhr (noon) prayer then immediately followed by the asr (afternoon) prayer, or saying the maghrib (post-sunset) prayer then immediately followed by the isha (night) prayer). The Maliki, Shafi'i, and Hanbali schools of thought agree that combining of the prayers while traveling is permitted, but they do not allow combining of the prayers for other reasons. The Hanafi school of thought permits combining of the prayers only on the day of Arafat. Whereas the imami Shi'a school of thought, allows combining of the prayers in all cases—while traveling or not, for any or no other specific reason, during war and peace, while the weather is rainy or not, and so on. The real dispute is as to when the exact beginning and end of the prayer times are. Thus, the dispute must be referred to the Holy Quran and narrations of the Holy Prophet Muhammad.

Three verses in the Holy Quran speak of the times for the prayers. Allah, the Exalted says, “Perform the prayers from the mid-day till the darkness of the night, and recite the Quran in the early dawn. Verily, the recitation of the Quran in the early dawn is ever-witnessed.”<sup>166</sup> “Mid-day” refers to the shared time for the dhuhr and asr prayers, “the darkness of the night” refers to the shared time of the mahrib and isha prayers, and “early dawn” refers to the fajr (dawn) prayer. The Holy Quran clearly and simply states that there are three main times for the five daily prayers. Although the prayers are five, still they fall into three main periods of time. The great Sunni scholar, Fakhr al-Din al-Razi understood this interpretation from this verse also.<sup>167</sup> Of course, the prayers must be done in order; the dhuh prayer must be performed before the asr prayer, and the maghrib prayer must be performed before the isha prayer.

The Holy Quran also says, “And perform the prayers at the two ends of the day, and in some hours of the night. Verily, the good deeds remove the evil deeds. That is a reminder for the mindful.”<sup>168</sup> Muslim jurists and Quran commentators agree that this verse refers to the five compulsory prayers, as the Holy Quran states, it determines the timing of the prayers—the three main times; two of them at the “ends of the day” and the third in “some hours of the night.” The first, “ends of the day” is the time of the morning prayer, the second, “ends of the day” begins at noon and ends at sunset (making this the time for the dhuh and asr prayers), and the “hours of the night” is the third main time in which the maghrib and isha prayers should be said; these prayers extends from the beginning of the night until midnight.

A similar division of times is expressed in a third verse, “So bear with patience (O Muhammad) all that they say, and glorify the praises of your Lord before the rising of the sun, and before its setting, and during a part of the night, also glorify His praises, and so likewise after the prayers.”<sup>169</sup> As in the previous verse, the jurists and the commentators also agree that this verse refers to the times of the five mandatory prayers; in addition to, dividing the time for the prayers into three segments: first, the time from dawn until sunrise which is the time for the dawn prayers (fajr); second, the time from noon until sunset, which is the time for the noon and afternoon prayers; and third, the “part of the night” which extends from after sunset till midnight, which is the time for the evening and night prayers. Referring to the last part of the cited verse (50:39-40), “And so likewise after the prostration,” according to the commentators, it refers either to the nawafil (recommended) prayers or specifically to salat al-layl (the midnight prayer) which are among the highly recommended prayers.

Imam al-Bukhari and others report that the Holy Prophet used to combine his prayers into three sections of time, “The Messenger of Allah observed the noon and afternoon prayers together and the sunset and night prayers together without being in a state of fear or journeying.”<sup>170</sup> Imam Muslim narrates the same hadith and adds that when the Holy Prophet was asked by Ibn ‘Abbas why he authorized combining of the two prayers, the Holy Prophet replied that he did not want to cause difficulty for his nation.<sup>171</sup> In the same book, ibn ‘Abbas himself narrates that they used to combine the two prayers during the time of the Holy Prophet.<sup>172</sup> Therefore, both the Holy Quran and the tradition of the Holy Prophet indicate clear authorization and permission to combine the two prayers without any particular reason. It also asserts that Allah the Merciful made His religion easy for the believers.

The Adhan (Call to Prayer); “Hayya ‘ala Khayr al-‘Amal” (Come to the Best of Deeds)

The entire adhan (call to prayer) was taught to the Holy Prophet by Allah on the night he ascended to Heaven, and the prayers were made obligatory on him that same night.<sup>173</sup> The original adhan taught to the Holy Prophet contained the phrase “hayya ‘ala khayr al-‘amal” (come to the best of deeds); however, at the time the Islamic state was expanding, the second caliph, ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab thought that this phrase would discourage people from performing jihad (defense fighting) and thus ordered it to be removed from the adhan. Imam Muslim narrates, on the authority of Ibn Mas‘ud that the Holy Prophet had commanded the Muslims to say in the adhan and iqaama (the call that signals the beginning of the prayer) “hayya ‘ala khayr al-‘amal,” but once ‘Umar assumed authority he dropped that phrase.<sup>174</sup> He also says that Ali ibn Abi Talib and his followers, as well as, ‘Abdullah, the son of ‘Umar did not drop the phrase.<sup>175</sup>

‘Umar ibn al-Khattab has been narrated to have said, “O people, three things existed during the time of the Messenger of Allah that I prohibit and make unlawful, and will punish for, they are: mut‘at al-hajj, mut‘at al-nisa, and ‘hayya ‘ala khayr al-‘amal.”<sup>176</sup>

Malik ibn Anas narrates the story of how ‘hayya ‘ala khayr al-‘amal was replaced by “al-salat khayrun min al-nawm.” Anas said, “The mu‘adhdhin (the person making the call to prayer) came to ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab to announce the morning prayers and found him asleep, so he said to him, ‘al-salat khayrun min al-nawm’ (prayer is better than sleep). ‘Umar liked this sentence very much, so he ordered that it be included in the adhan for the morning prayers.”<sup>177</sup> Imam Muslim and Abu Dawud also concur that this sentence was not part of the adhan during the time of the Holy Prophet, and Tirmidhi asserts that ‘Umar was the one who added it.<sup>178</sup>

Some people may wonder why the Shi‘a, in the adhan, include: “Ashhadu anna Ali`yan wali Allah” (“I testify that Ali is the guardian of Allah”) after the first two testimonies. All the Shi‘a jurists and scholars have a consensus that this sentence is not an obligatory part of the adhan; nonetheless, saying it is a tradition. However, if anyone says it in the adhan, believing it is obligatory, then his or her adhan would be void. The Shi'as believe it began during the time of the Holy Prophet, on the day of Ghadir after he appointed Imam Ali as his successor, during which the Muslims paid their allegiance to Imam Ali, and Abu Dharr al-Ghifari raised the adhan and added the phrase: "Ashhadu anna Ali`yan wali Allah." Afterwards, the Muslims came to the Holy Prophet and said that they had heard something new in the adhan. When the Holy Prophet asked what they had heard, they replied, we heard the phrase, "Ashhadu anna `Aliyan wali Allah" in the adhan. The Holy Prophet asked them whether they had not just acknowledged this same phrase to Imam Ali when they had given their allegiance (bay`ah) to him.

Crossing the Hands in Prayer (Takfir<sup>179</sup>)

The Messenger of Allah has said, "Perform your prayers as you saw me performing my prayers." Therefore, crossing of the hands voids the prayers in the Imamiyyah (Sh'ia Twelever) school of thought since it is deemed as the habit of the Magians<sup>180</sup> (Majus).<sup>181</sup> However, in the Hanafi and Shafi'i schools, it is recommended (mustahhab) to cross the hands. Nevertheless, the two schools differ slightly in the hand posture; the Shafi'i school says to cross the right hand on top of the left above the belly, while the Hanafi says to hold the hands below the belly.

---

<sup>179</sup> Takfir comes from the Arabic word for "covering," and since crossing the hands covers part of the chest it is called takfir.

<sup>180</sup> Magians are people who consider fire as the purest and noblest element, and worship it as an emblem of Allah. They are mentioned in the Holy Quran, 22.17.

Concluding the Prayers with Three Takbirs (Saying: Allahu Akbar!)

The Messenger of Allah used to conclude his prayers with three takbirs. Imam Muslim narrates this fact, on the authority of Ibn ‘Abbas who says, “We knew that the Prophet had concluded his prayers when he recited the three takbirats.”<sup>182</sup>

Prostrating on Earth (Turbah)

Prostrating on the earth (turbah) or nature made material does not in any way imply worshipping the earth or stone which is being prostrated on. As a practice, it has a firm foundation in the tradition of the Holy Prophet which the Holy Quran teaches the Muslims to follow in all aspects.

Imam al-Bukhari narrates that the Holy Prophet said, “I have been given five things which were not granted to anyone (any other prophet) before me:

1. Every apostle was sent particularly to his own people, whereas I have been sent to all people; red and yellow.

2. The spoils of war have been made lawful for me, and these were never made lawful for anyone before me.
3. The earth has been made pure and a place of prostration for me, so whenever the time of prayer comes for any one of you, he should pray wherever he is.
4. I have been supported by awe (by which the enemy is overwhelmed) from the distance (which takes one month to cover).
5. I have been granted intercession.<sup>183</sup>

In regards to the subject, the third narration very clearly says that the earth (the dust and the stones) is the place of prostration. In the history of Islam, the Holy Prophet Muhammad has shown that his mosque in Madina had no floor covering; it was only dust, although numerous types of rugs and furnishings existed at that time. Because this mosque did not have a carpet or any other type of floor covering thus when it rained the floor of the mosque would turn into mud; but still, the Muslims prostrated on the mud and did not put any carpets or rugs down. Many other narrations have said:

Abu Sa'īd al-Khidri, a companion of the Holy Prophet reported, "I saw with my own eyes, the Messenger of Allah had on his nose the traces of the rain and mud.”

Imam al-Bukhari narrates that when the Holy Prophet used to do the prayers in his own room, he would pray on khumra (a solid piece of dirt or a piece of straw).

The Messenger of Allah performed prayer and I (one of the wives of the Holy Prophet) lay opposite to him while I was in menses. Sometimes his clothes touched me when he prostrated, and he used to prostrate on khumra.<sup>184</sup>

One of the wives of the Holy Prophet said, “I never saw the Prophet (while prostrating) preventing his face from touching the earth.”<sup>185</sup>

Wa'il, one of the Prophet's companions narrates, “I saw (that) the Prophet, once he prostrated, he touched his forehead and nose on the earth.”<sup>186</sup>

Other narrations say that the Holy Prophet prohibited the Muslims from prostrating on materials other than the earth. One day he saw a man prostrating on some cloth from his turban. The Holy Prophet pointed to him and told him to remove his turban and to touch his actual forehead to the ground.<sup>187</sup>

Despite the immense heat of the ground, the Holy Prophet and his companions used to prostrate on it. A great companion of the Holy Prophet, Jabbir ibn ‘Abdullah al-Ansari says, “I used to pray the noon prayers with the Messenger of Allah and I used to take a bunch of pebbles in my palm to cool them because of the enormous heat so I could prostrate on them.”<sup>188</sup>

Another companion of the Holy Prophet, Anas ibn Malik narrates, “We used to pray with the Messenger of Allah during the enormous heat, and one of us would take the pebbles in his hand and, once they were cooled, put them down and prostrate on them.”<sup>189</sup>

Al-Khabbab ibn al-Arth, another companion of the Holy Prophet says, “We complained to the Messenger of Allah about the intensity of the heat of the ground and its effects on our foreheads and palms (during prostration), and the Prophet did not excuse us from praying on the ground.”<sup>190</sup>

Abu Ubaidah, also a companion of the Holy Prophet narrates that the companion ibn Mas‘ud never prostrated except on the earth,<sup>191</sup> while the companion ‘Ibada ibn al-Samit has been narrated to have pushed back his turban to allow his forehead to touch the ground.<sup>192</sup>

During the times of the first, second, third, and fourth caliphs the Muslims used to prostrate on the dust. Abu Umayyah narrates that the first caliph, Abu Bakr used to prostrate and pray on the earth.<sup>193</sup> Prostrating on the earth was also the habit of the tabi’in (those who did not see the Holy Prophet but met his companions). Masruq ibn al-Ajda’, a prominent tabi’in and a faithful jurist, and a student of, ‘Abdullah ibn Mas‘ud made for himself a tablet from the dirt of Madina and used it to prostrate on, taking it with him on his trips, especially when he boarded ships.<sup>194</sup>

The people closest to the Holy Prophet, the Ahlul-Bayt were also very firm in their practice of prostrating on the earth, and in doing so, were following the tradition of their grandfather, the Messenger of Allah. Imam Ja‘far al-Sadiq, the sixth imam said, “Prostration is not permitted except on the earth and whatever grows from it except on those things that are eaten or made of cotton.”<sup>195</sup> When he was asked whether having one's turban touch the earth instead of the forehead was acceptable, he replied that this was not sufficient unless the forehead actually touched the earth.<sup>196</sup> His companion and student, Hisham ibn al-Hakam asked him whether all seven positions (forehead, hands, knees, and big toes) needed to touch the earth during prostration, Imam al-Sadiq replied that as long as the forehead touched the earth, there was no need for the other six areas to touch the earth as well. Thus, people can use carpets or prayer rugs to pray on as long as the forehead itself touches the earth. However, prostrating by putting the forehead on a piece of cloth, carpet, nylon, sheet, wool, or anything that is not a product of the earth (excluding items which are eaten or worn; things which prostration is not permissible) would not be considered prostrating on the earth.

Besides the issue of validity of prostration, prostrating on the earth has very significant indications and lessons for the believer. Prostrating itself is a gesture of humiliation and insignificance before the Almighty, and if it is done on the dirt then it will have more effect than prostrating on a carpet. The Messenger of Allah says, "Make your faces dusty and cover your noses with dust."<sup>197</sup> When Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq was asked about the philosophy behind prostrating on the earth, he said, "Because prostration is surrendering and humiliation to the Almighty. Therefore, it shouldn't be on what is worn and eaten because people are slaves of what they eat and wear, and prostration is the worshipping of Allah, so one should not put his forehead during prostration on that which is worshipped by the people (food and clothing) and that which conceits people.”<sup>198</sup>

However, every rule has its exception. Certain narrations allow people in times of emergency, such as imprisonment or being in a place (e.g., a ship or an airplane) in which neither earth nor a piece of wood, leaf, or paper is available to prostrate on. Therefore, in these cases, people can prostrate either on the hem of their clothing or on carpet, for the Messenger of Allah has said, “Nothing has been forbidden to man except that Allah permits it for whoever is compelled (in times of emergency).”

Why Pray on the Soil of Karbala?

The followers of Ahlul-Bayt prefer to prostrate on the earth of Karbala which holds the memory of the great sacrifice of Imam Husayn, grandson of the Holy Prophet. They do not cherish the physical soil so much as the principles of Imam Husayn and his great revolution which saved Islam from corruption, deterioration, and the tyranny of the wrongdoers. Many imams from the school of Ahlul-Bayt have narrated that prostrating on the soil of Karbala penetrates the seven veils separating the person praying from Allah the Exalted.

Conventional wisdom also determines that some lands are better than others. This fact is normal and rational, and has been agreed upon by many nations, governments, authorities, and religions. Such is the case with places and buildings related to Almighty Allah. They enjoy a special status whose injunctions, rights, and obligations are sanctioned and safeguarded. For example, the Ka‘bah has an injunction of its own, as does the Mosque of the Prophet in Madina.

The land of Karbala is similar, for the Holy Prophet has been recorded to have taken the soil from it, smelled it, and kissed it. The wife of the Holy Prophet, Um Salamah also carried a piece of the soil of Karbala in her clothes. The Messenger of Allah has been narrated to have told Um Salamah, “Jibrail has come to me and informed me that some of my nation will assassinate my son Husayn in Iraq, and he brought me a piece of that soil.” He gave that piece of soil to his wife and said, “When it is turned into fresh blood, then you will know that my son Husayn has been murdered.” Um Salamah took the soil and put it in a bottle. When Imam Husayn left for Iraq in 61H, she checked the bottle every day. One day, she came to the bottle and saw that the dust had turned into fresh blood, so she started screaming. The women of Bani Hashim gathered around her and asked what was wrong; she told them that Husayn had been killed. When they asked her how she knew, she narrated the story, and they joined her in lamentation and crying for Imam Husayn.<sup>199</sup>

Hisham ibn Muhammad has said, “When water was released to overwhelm and obliterate the grave of Husayn, it dried after forty days, and the grave was completely left without any trace. A Bedouin from Bani Asad came and sampled the soil, one handful after another, smelling it each time, until he was able to identify the grave of Husayn, whereupon he wept and said, “May my parents be sacrificed for you! How sweet you smelled when you were alive, and how sweet your soil smells when you are dead!” Then he wept again and composed this poem, “Out of enmity they wanted to obliterate his grave, but the good smell of the soil led to the grave.”<sup>200</sup>

The first to prostrate on the soil of Karbala (where Imam Husayn was beheaded and buried) was his son, Ali ibn al-Husayn Zayn al-Abidin the fourth imam of the school of Ahlul-Bayt, the great-grandson of the Messenger of Allah. Immediately after he buried his father in Karbala, he took a handful of the soil, made the earth into a solid piece and used it to prostrate on. After him, his son Imam Muhammad al-Baqir and his grandson, Imam Ja‘far al-Sadiq did the same. Imam Zayn al-Abidin and Imam al-Sadiq made prayer beads from the burial dust of Imam Husayn, and Imam al-Sadiq narrates that the daughter of the Messenger of Allah, Lady Fatima al-Zahra used to carry prayer beads made from twisted wooden threads with which she would praise and glorify Allah, the Exalted. But after Hamzah ibn ‘Abd al-Mutalib was killed in the Battle of Uhud, she took the soil from his grave and made prayer beads from it and used them to glorify Allah. People learned her habit and did the same when Imam Husayn was martyred; taking the soil of his grave and using it to make prayer beads.

Prayers for the Dead (Salat al-Mayyit)

During the time of the Holy Prophet, the prayers over the newly deceased had five takbirs (units). Ahmad ibn Hanbal narrates from ‘Abd al-A‘la, “I prayed behind Zayd ibn Arqam over a dead body, and I did the takbirat five times.” A man stood behind him and held his hand and asked whether he had forgotten. ‘Abd al-A‘la replied, “No, but I prayed behind Abul-Qasim Muhammad and he did five takbirat, and I would not do other than that.”<sup>201</sup>

For reference, al-Suyuti mentions the name of the Companion who changed the number of takbirs from five to four.<sup>202</sup>

Tarawih* Prayers

Imam al-Bukhari narrates from ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Abd al-Qari, “In one of the nights of the month of Ramadan, I went to the mosque with ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab. We saw the people in scattered groups, with individuals praying by themselves. Others were praying with a group praying behind them. ‘Umar looked at me and said, ‘In my opinion, if I can bring all these people together, behind one who recites, it would be better.’ So, he gathered them and made ‘Ubay ibn Ka‘ab lead them in prayers. So I went with him another night to the mosque, and saw people all praying together behind the person reciting. ‘Umar looked at them

The Companions of the Holy Prophet

Most Muslim scholars define the Companions (Sahaba) of the Holy Prophet to be the people who lived during the time of the Holy Prophet, and saw or heard him speak, even for a very short period of time.

Islam teaches that no person should be praised nor condemned without a valid reason regardless of their origin, belief, or color. According to the Holy Quran, the nearest to Allah are those who are most pious, “Verily, the most honorable of you with Allah is that believer who has more piety and righteousness.”<sup>204</sup> Not blood relation, friendship, companionship, monetary status, nor social status plays a role in nearness to Allah.

As for the Sahaba, the Holy Quran divides them into two groups. The first consists of those who were truthful and loyal, and had sacrificed their wealth and souls (i.e. life) to defend the cause of Islam. The Quran says, “Those who believed and emigrated and strove hard and fought in the cause of Allah with their wealth and their lives are far higher in degree with Allah. They are the successful. Their Lord gives them glad tidings of mercy from Him, and that He is pleased (with them), and of Gardens for them wherein are everlasting delights. They will dwell therein forever. Verily, with Allah is a great reward.”<sup>205</sup> Other numerous verses in the Holy Quran hail the good companions of the Holy Prophet, such as the al-Badriyun, those who stood by the Holy Prophet during the Battle of Badr, even though their number was less than one third of their enemies and their weapons were trivial compared to the weapons of their adversaries. They stood firm and sacrificed their lives and are among the best of examples for the Muslims.

Likewise, there were respected women among the Sahaba who participated in the political, social, and economic life of Islam, such as Um Amarah who sacrificed four sons to defend Islam. While tending to the fatal injuries of one of her sons, Um Amarah took to the battlefield to fight the enemy. The Holy Prophet witnessed her bravery and said about her, “O Um Amarah, who can bear what you are bearing?”

However, there is another group—the hypocrites, which the Holy Quran clearly describes. Numerous verses in the Holy Quran condemn their attempts to destroy the Muslim nation. In particular, there are two suras in the Holy Quran that refer to some of the companions as hypocrites: Sura 9 (al-Tawbah or The Repentance) and sura 63 (al-Munafiqin or The Hypocrites). In the Hypocrites, the Holy Quran teaches that people should not be judged by their physical appearance or even by their public actions, but rather, by their sincerity and dedication to Allah, His Prophet, and the Muslim nation. This sura says, “And when you look at them, their bodies please you, and when they speak, you listen to their words. They are as blocks of wood, propped up. They think that every cry is against them. They are the enemies. So beware of them; may Allah curse them. How are they denying the right path?”<sup>206</sup> These are the disobedient whom Allah would not forgive on the Day of Judgment, according to the Holy Quran, “It is equal for them whether you (Prophet Muhammad) ask forgiveness for them or do not ask forgiveness for them. Allah will not forgive them. Verily, Allah guides not the people who are rebellious, disobedient to Allah.”<sup>207</sup> Although they performed the prayers and gave alms (zakat), these acts stemmed from their hypocrisy and desire to show off and were not for the sake of Allah. The Quran says, “And nothing prevents their contributions from being accepted except that they disbelieved in Allah and in His Messenger and that they came to prayers only in a lazy state, and that they only offer contributions (zakat) unwillingly.”<sup>208</sup> Even when praying behind the Holy Prophet himself, whenever a trade caravan would enter Madina, these hypocrites would leave their positions in the prayer row to watch the caravan rather than listen to the sermon of the Holy Prophet of Allah. The Quran states, “And when they see some merchandise, or some amusement, they disperse headlong to it, and leave you (Muhammad) standing (while delivering the Friday jum'ah (congregational) religious sermon). Say: that which Allah has is better than any amusement or merchandise, and Allah is the best of providers.”<sup>209</sup>

According to historical reports, some of these hypocrites who posed as the Holy Prophet’s “companions” were actually plotting to kill him.<sup>210</sup> The Holy Quran mentions that they had schemed to start a civil war in Madina:

Verily, they had plotted sedition before and had upset matters for you—until the truth (victory) came, and the Decree of Allah became manifest though they hated it.<sup>211</sup>

They (the hypocrites) say, ‘If we return to Madina, indeed, the more honorable (the chief of the hypocrites) will expel there from the meaner (Allah’s Messenger and his followers).’ But honor, power, and glory belong to Allah, His Messenger, and the believers, but the hypocrites know not.<sup>212</sup>

Some of these hypocrites established a mosque and invited the Holy Prophet to inaugurate it, not to please Allah but to compete with the other Muslims and to cause disunity amongst the believers. Allah ordered the Holy

Prophet to refuse their invitation and destroy that mosque which was based on hypocrisy:

And as for those who put up a mosque by way of harming and disbelief, and to disunite the believers, and as an outpost for those who warned against Allah and His Messenger aforetime, they will indeed swear that their intention is nothing but good. Allah bears witness that they are certainly liars. Never stand therein. Verily, the mosque whose foundation was laid from the first day based on piety is more worthy for you to stand therein. In it are men who love to clean and purify themselves. And Allah loves those who make themselves clean and pure. Is he who laid the foundation of his building on piety to Allah and His good pleasure better, or he who laid the foundation of his building on an undetermined brink of a precipice ready to crumble down, so that it crumbles to pieces with him into the Fire of Hell? And Allah guides not the people who are the dhalimun (cruel, violent, proud, hypocrites, and wrongdoers). The building which they built will never cease to be a cause of hypocrisy and doubt in their hearts, unless their hearts are cut to pieces. And Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise.<sup>213</sup>

While some of the hypocrites would approach the truthful Muslim believers and claim that they were genuinely part of the Muslim nation; yet, Allah informs the Muslims not to believe them, “They swear by Allah that they are truly of you while they are not of you, but they are a people (hypocrites) who intend to divide (the Muslim nation).”<sup>214</sup> The Muslim hypocrites, on countless occasions, insulted and offended the Holy Prophet of Islam, the Quran says, “And among them (the hypocrites) are men who hurt the Prophet and say, ‘He is (lending his) ear (to every news).’ Say, ‘He listens to what is best for you, he believes in Allah, has faith in the believers, and is a mercy to those of you who believe.’ But those who hurt Allah’s Messenger will have a painful torment.”<sup>215</sup>

Even the Holy Prophet was unaware of some of the hypocrites in Madina. Although he knew of ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Ubay, the leader of the hypocrites, there were others in the mosque of the Prophet—in the city of Madina—whom Allah did not inform him about. The Quran says, “And among the desert people (A ‘arab) around you, O believers, are some hypocrites, and so are there some among the people of Madina. They exaggerate and persist in hypocrisy. Even you (Prophet Muhammad) know them not. We know them; We shall punish them twice and thereafter they shall be brought to a great, horrible torment.”<sup>216</sup>

Since the acts of desecration to Islam and the Muslim society had reached such an extent by some of the hypocrites Allah had promised them eternal punishment. Therefore, Muslims should not extend the pleasure of Allah to all of the people around the Holy Prophet without distinguishing between who was a true believer and who was a pretender. Nor should the Muslims refer to them as “the stars...whomever we follow, we will be guided.” Imam al-Bukhari narrates:

Allah’s Messenger said, I will be there at the Fountain of Kawthar before you, and I will have to contend for some people, but I will have to yield. I will be saying, My Lord, they are my Companions, they are my Companions, and it will be said, You don’t know what innovations they made after you.<sup>217</sup>

Imam al-Bukhari also narrates a similar version of this hadith:

Allah’s Messenger said in the company of his companions, I will be at the Fountain waiting for those who will be coming to me from among you. By Allah, some people will be prevented from coming to me, and I will say, My Lord, they are my followers and the people of my ummah (nation).

And He will say, You don't know what they did after you; they have been constantly turning back on their heels (from their religion).

Since many of the companions heard the Holy Prophet saying this, a companion by the name of ibn Abu Mulaikah began then to include it in his supplication. It is reported that he used to say (in supplication), "O Allah, I seek refuge with You that we should turn back upon our heels or be put to any trial about our religion."<sup>218</sup>

Some Muslims claim that whoever disrespects any of the people around the Holy Prophet is a not a Muslim or a believer. Certainly, criticizing a devout and genuine sahaba of the Holy Prophet is completely forbidden and unacceptable. However, it should not be forgotten, that within the group of people around the Holy Prophet there were some who were hypocrites, whom even the Holy Prophet did not know of.<sup>219</sup> Nonetheless, Allah was well aware of them and even cursed those hypocrites who portrayed themselves as true companions of the Holy Prophet.

Scholars contend that to curse or speak ill about a companion is an abomination. However, within the Umayyad clan, there was a particular caliph who established a precedent for cursing a certain Sahaba known for his devotion to Allah and Islam. If any Muslim who curses any of the Sahabas is declared a disbeliever, then what would be the Islamic judgment regarding this caliph?

In addition, some hadiths claim that the Companions were somehow infallible, if they were infallible then why after the death of the Holy Prophet, some of the Companions, from time to time would not only disagree with each other but their arguments would escalate into physical attacks. If they were infallible then why would they be fighting each other? It has been documented that certain individuals from the sahaba of the Holy Prophet were responsible for the assassination of the third caliph, 'Uthman ibn Affan. Should they still be regarded as equal to the pious companions of the Holy Prophet?

If a hadith, such as “my companions are like stars...whomever you follow, you will be guided,” would extend Allah’s pleasure indiscriminately to all who were around the Prophet, then they would not be treated as authentic Prophetic hadith in the Shi’a school of thought, since they are not compatible with the Holy Quran.

Some of the companions did commit sins without intending to defy Allah, and Allah has promised them forgiveness, “And there are others who have acknowledged their sins. They have mixed a deed which was righteous with another that was evil. Allah shall turn to them in forgiveness. Surely Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.”<sup>220</sup>

The Wives of the Holy Prophet

Similarly, the wives of the Holy Prophet are included in what was said about the companions of the Holy Prophet, since blood relation or the bond of marriage alone would not ensure a safe passage to Paradise. Allah teaches in the Holy Quran that only good deeds entitle the believers to success and to enter Paradise. Being a wife or a son or a daughter of the Holy Prophet would not automatically grant success on the Day of Judgment, although it may grant them the fellowship of the Holy Prophet and knowledge of his traditions.

Almighty Allah puts forth in the Holy Quran a parable about the wives of two prominent messengers of Allah, Nuh (Noah) and Lut (Lot), “Allah sets forth an example for those who disbelieve: the wife of Noah and the wife of Lot. They were under two of our righteous slaves but they both betrayed (their husbands, by rejecting their doctrine), so they benefited them not against Allah, and it was said to them, ‘Enter the Fire with those who enter it.’”<sup>221</sup>

Muslim historians narrate that some of the wives of the Holy Prophet were not always on good terms with him. Imam al-Bukhari narrates from one of the wives of the Holy Prophet, Lady ‘A’ishah:

The Apostle of Allah used to spend time with Zaynab bint Jahsh (one of his wives) and drink honey at her house. She (Lady ‘A’ishah) further said, I and Hafsa (another wife) agreed that the one whom the Apostle of Allah visited first should say, I notice that you have an odor of “maghafir” (the gum of mimosa). He visited one of them and she told him this, whereupon he said, I have taken honey at the house of Zaynab bint Jahsh, and I will never do it again. At this, the following verse was revealed, referring to his abstention from honey, O Prophet! Why do you ban for yourself that which Allah has made lawful to you, seeking to please your wives (Lady ‘A’ishah and Hafsa)? And Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>222</sup>

The Holy Quran also addresses Lady ‘A’ishah and Hafsa exclusively, “If you two (wives of the Prophet) turn in repentance to Allah—but your hearts are so inclined (to oppose what the Prophet likes). But if you help one another against him, then verily Allah is his Protector—and Jibril, and the righteous among the believers, and the angels are also his helpers. It may be that if he divorced you, his Lord would give him, instead of you, wives better than you—Muslims submitting to Allah, believers, women obedient to Allah, who turn to Allah in repentance, worship Allah

These verses of the Holy Quran prove that the wives of the Holy Prophet were not the best of the companions.

For political, social, and economic reasons, as well as, to spread the word of Allah, the Holy Prophet had several wives and was patient with their mischief and rebellion (see Holy Quran, 66:4-5).

Historical Facts

Imam Ali was the first male to embrace Islam.<sup>224</sup> He himself declared, “I started worshipping Allah nine years before anyone else in this nation started worshipping Him, except for Prophet Muhammad.”<sup>225</sup>

The Holy Prophet held two ceremonies of Brotherhood (mu'akhat) in which he made the Muslims brothers of each other. He did one before the migration to Madina and one afterwards.<sup>226</sup> In both Brotherhoods, the Holy Prophet made brothers of himself and Imam Ali, Abu Bakr and 'Umar, 'Uthman ibn Affan and 'Abd al-Rahman ibn 'Auf,

The Holy Prophet ordered all of the gates which had access to the courtyard of the Mosque of the Holy Prophet to be closed except the gate which connected to the house of Imam Ali, since the ritually impure (junub) were no longer allowed to enter the mosque before performing the ritual bathing (ghusl). However, the Holy Prophet, Imam Ali, and Lady Fatima al-Zahra were exceptions to this rule, as an emphasis to the “Verse of Purity” (33:33). Even Hamzah, the uncle of the Holy Prophet was saddened by this decision and came to the Holy Prophet weeping. The Holy Prophet told him, “I did not ban you, and I did not allow him (Ali); Allah allowed him.”<sup>228</sup> Ibn Hanbal also narrates that many companions wondered about the Holy Prophet’s decision to exempt Imam Ali from having to shut his door to the mosque, the Holy Prophet answered them by this sermon, “I commanded that these doors be shut except for the door of Ali. By Allah, it was not my own desire, but I was commanded by Allah, and I followed the command.”<sup>229</sup> For this reason, the second caliph, ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab, says, “Ibn Abi Talib has been given three virtues of which, if I had only had one, it would have been better for me than everything in this life: the messenger of Allah married him to his own daughter and she delivered offspring for him, the Prophet shut all the gates to the

The Event of Thursday

Towards the end of the life of the Messenger of Allah, the Roman army was gathering on the border of the Islamic state, and the Holy Prophet ordered all of his companions except for Imam Ali to leave Madina and to join the battalion of Usama ibn Zayd. Some of the prominent Companions refused to join. The Holy Prophet ordered them again to go, but they still refused. The third time, when they gathered in his house on a Thursday, four days before he passed away, the Holy Prophet opened his eyes and saw that his Companions had gathered around his deathbed. The Holy Prophet asked for a pen and paper to write his will but one of the Companions refused to give him, saying, “Verily, pain has overwhelmed him. The book of Allah is enough for us.” Once the argument increased, the Holy Prophet turned to them and said, “Go away from me. You should not argue in my presence.”<sup>231</sup> ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Abbas says, “The disaster struck when they did not allow the Prophet to write his will.”<sup>232</sup> Other historians narrate that on that day, the same Companion said, “Leave him (the Holy Prophet) alone. He is hallucinating.”<sup>233</sup>

This situation occurred despite the clear command of the Holy Quran, “Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger that you may obtain mercy,”<sup>234</sup> and “He who obeys the Messenger has indeed obeyed Allah, but he who turns away, then we have not sent you (Muhammad) as a watcher over them.”<sup>235</sup> This Companion later confessed as to why he denied the Holy Prophet’s request during the “Event of Thursday,” he said that the Holy Prophet had wanted to mention Imam Ali for leadership during his final days so he stopped him from doing that.<sup>236</sup>

Imam al-Bukhari reports on the authority of Sa’d ibn Jubayr from ibn ‘Abbas:

Thursday, and what about Thursday! Then he wept till his tears wetted the gravel. Thereupon I said, ‘O ibn ‘Abbas, what about Thursday?’ He said, ‘The Messenger of Allah said, Bring me (a pen and paper) so that I write for you a document (by following which) you would never go astray.’ But they disputed while, in the presence of a prophet, there should be no disputation. ### The Suffering of Lady Fatima al-Zahra

One of the undeniable historical facts that all Muslim historians, regardless of their school of thought, unanimously agree upon is that the beloved daughter of the Holy Prophet, Lady Fatima al-Zahra died three months after him; as a result of the great pain and suffering she endured during the incident of the attack on her house. She died at the age of 18 years and 7 months. On the day of her burial, Imam Ali addressed the Holy Prophet at his grave and said:

O Prophet of Allah! Peace be upon you from me and from your daughter who has come to you and who has hastened to meet you. O Prophet of Allah! My patience about your chosen daughter has been exhausted, and my power of endurance has weakened except that I have ground for consolation in having endured the great hardship and heart-rending event of your separation. I laid you down in your grave when your last breath had passed, when your head was between my neck and chest. Verily, we are Allah's, and, verily, unto Him shall we return. Now the trust has been returned, and what has been given has been taken back. As to my grief, it knows no bounds, and as to my nights, they will remain sleepless till Allah chooses for me the house in which you are now residing. Certainly, your daughter would apprise you of the joining together of your people for oppressing her. You ask her in detail, and get all the news about the matter. This has happened when a long time had not elapsed, and your remembrance had not disappeared. My salaam be on you both, and the salaam of a grief-stricken, not a disgusted or hateful person, for if I go away it is not because I am weary of you, and if I stay it is not due to lack of belief in what Allah has promised the ones who endure.<sup>238</sup>

Lady Fatima al-Zahra died only three months after her father, the Messenger of Allah; spending all this time in grief and agony. She was never seen smiling, not even once after the death of her father.<sup>239</sup> Her suffering increased day by day as a result of the injuries she sustained when one of the Companions slammed the door on her, two days after her father's death, causing her to miss-carry her son, Muhsin. When Lady Fatima died, her husband Imam Ali buried her in the night. Only a handful of companions

She was also denied her inheritance from the Holy Prophet—mainly, a land outside Madina, called Fadak—on the grounds that prophets do not leave inheritance. Imam Bukhari narrates that when Lady Fatima asked for her share of the Holy Prophet’s inheritance, she received the response that the Holy Prophet had said, “We, the group of prophets, do not leave inheritance. What we leave is charity.” Thus she was refused anything from her father’s inheritance despite the fact that the Holy Quran gives examples of prophets inheriting from other prophets, such as, “And Solomon inherited from David.”<sup>241</sup>

These incidents happened even though the Messenger of Allah had said, “Lady Fatima is a part of me. Whoever angers her, angers me.”<sup>242</sup> Ibn Qutaybah records that Lady Fatima al-Zahra said to some of the Companions, “I take Allah as a witness, and His angels, that you have angered me and did not please me, and if I meet with the Prophet, I will raise my grievances about you to him.”<sup>243</sup>

Did the Holy Prophet Order the First Caliph to Lead the Prayers Before his Death?

As mentioned earlier, the Holy Prophet before his death ordered the majority of his companions to leave Madina and to join the battalion of Usama, in order to defend against the Roman aggression. However, some of the Companions refused the Holy Prophet's commands and stayed in Madina while Usama camped in an area called Jurf. Nonetheless, two people narrate that the first caliph led the prayers with the consent of the Holy Prophet during his sickness—Lady 'A'ishah, the daughter of the first caliph and the wife of the Holy Prophet and Anas ibn Malik. Lady 'A'ishah narrates, "The Prophet went to the mosque to lead the prayers while he was too weak to walk, and Abu Bakr was leading the prayers. The Prophet came and sat next to Abu Bakr leading the prayers."<sup>244</sup> However, this narration does not imply that the Holy Prophet commanded the first caliph to lead the prayers since—despite his illness—he still went outside to lead the prayers. The other narrator, Anas ibn Malik is not considered as a neutral source, according to the Shi'a school of thought.

Those historians who do relate that the first caliph was in Madina during the time of the death of the Prophet, indicate that on the day the Holy Prophet was destined to pass away at noon, Lady 'A'ishah ordered Bilal to tell her father that the Holy Prophet wanted him to lead the morning prayers. Once the Holy Prophet learned of this, he went out to lead the prayers, leaning on Imam Ali and al-Fadl ibn 'Abbas. After removing the first caliph and leading the prayers, the Holy Prophet then went back to his room in the Mosque of the Prophet and said to Lady 'A'ishah, "You are among the companions of Yusuf (Joseph)."<sup>245</sup> This story has been narrated in various words by nine narrators: Lady 'A'ishah, 'Abdullah ibn Mas'ud,

‘Abdullah ibn ‘Abbas, ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar, ‘Abdullah ibn Zam’a, Abu Musa al-Ash‘ari, Buraydah al-Aslami, Anas ibn Malik, and Salim ibn Ubayd. However, an examination of these sources shows that all the narrations go back to Lady ‘A’ishah. In addition, there are also some unreliable individuals in the chains of narrators. Furthermore, even if the Holy Prophet had appointed Abu Bakr to lead the prayers, this appointment would not imply an appointment to succeed the Holy Prophet in all aspects of life, since the Holy Prophet, during his lifetime, had permitted many people to perform the prayers, and of course, they are not considered as khilafa’, such as Ibn Um Maktum who was blind.<sup>246</sup> Shaykh al-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah acknowledges that being a successor for certain tasks in life does not stretch to include succession after death. He adds, that the Holy Prophet had appointed many people, such as ibn Um Maktum, Bashir ibn ‘Abd al-Mundhir, and others for certain tasks, such as leading the congregational prayers. Nevertheless, most of these people were not suited for succession to the Holy Prophet.<sup>247</sup>

In another slightly contrasting hadith, the famous historian and transmitter of hadith, al-Tabari<sup>248</sup> narrated that the first caliph, Abu Bakr was not in Madina at the time of the death of the Holy Prophet, and when the Holy Prophet was in extreme pain and he could not go to the mosque to perform the prayers, Bilal, the mu’adhdhin (the caller to prayer) asked, “O Messenger of Allah! May my mother and father be your ransom, who will lead the prayers?”<sup>249</sup> The Holy Prophet called upon Imam Ali. Then his wife, Lady ‘A’ishah said to him, “We will call you Abu Bakr,” and his wife Lady Hafsa said, “We will call you ‘Umar.” Thus, the Holy Prophet’s call did not reach Imam Ali, and the rest of the people came. Once they gathered around the Holy Prophet, he said to them, “Go away. If I need you I will send after you.” Then the Companions left.<sup>250</sup>

The Ten Who are Guaranteed Paradise

Tirmidhi narrates that the Holy Prophet declared that ten of his companions were guaranteed paradise, while Imam al-Bukhari and Muslim deny that the Holy Prophet had ever made such a statement, as well as, al-Dhahabi in his book, Mizan al-I’tidal. This hadith counters logic on many levels, and as such, cannot be accepted. For instance, Talha and Zubayr, who are both included in this hadith, both ordered the killing of the third caliph ‘Uthman—who is also included in this hadith. They are the same—Talha and Zubayr—who revolted against the legitimate caliph, Ali ibn Abi Talib after paying allegiance to him. Another individual included in this hadith is Sa’d ibn Abi Waqqass, who refused to pay allegiance to Imam Ali but did pay allegiance to Mu’awiyah. Another individual was ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn ‘Auf who revolted against the third caliph, ‘Uthman ibn Affan and was killed by the Umayyads. The second caliph described ibn ‘Auf as the “pharaoh of this nation.”<sup>251</sup> The very notion that only ten of the Muslims should be guaranteed Paradise is illogical, since it exempts hundreds of other sincere and virtuous Muslims, such as Hamzah, ‘Sayyid al-shuhada (Master of the Martyrs) and uncle of the Holy Prophet, Ja‘far ibn Abi Talib, Zayd ibn Haritha, Sa‘d ibn Ma‘adh, ‘Ammar ibn Yassir, about whom the Holy Prophet said, “He is filled with faith (iman) from head to toe,” and Salman al-Farsi, about whom the Holy Prophet said, “He is one of us, the ahlul-bayt.” Since the hadith of the ten who are guaranteed Paradise was narrated by Sa‘id ibn Zayd, who was not on good terms with the Ahlul-Bayt, hence the Shi‘a school of thought can not accept it.

Abu Hurayra

The man who narrated the largest number of hadith—5,374 (446 of which are in Imam al-Bukhari), although he says that he only spent three years with the Holy Prophet<sup>252</sup>—was Abu Hurayra al-Dusi. He embraced Islam on the seventh year after the migration to Madina. Abu Hurayra himself says that only ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar narrated more traditions than he, and that ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar used to write them down while he did not.<sup>253</sup> In fact, ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar only narrated 2,630 hadith, of which Imam al-Bukhari mentions only seven and Imam Muslim, twenty. ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab himself narrated only 527 hadith, while ‘Uthman ibn Affan narrated 146, Abu Bakr, 142, ‘A’ishah, the wife of the Prophet, 1,210, Jabbir ibn

Furthermore, Imam Muslim also narrates that the second caliph, ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab beat Abu Hurayra on one occasion.<sup>254</sup> Abu Hurayra admits, “I have narrated to you several traditions that had I narrated them during the time of ‘Umar, ‘Umar would have lashed me with a stick.”<sup>255</sup> It has been said that Abu Hurayra was the first narrator who was accused justly in Islam.<sup>256</sup> ‘Umar al-Khattab said to him, “You have taken the money of the Muslims for yourself...”<sup>257</sup> ‘Umar also told him once, “You have narrated too many hadiths, and most appropriately, you lie about the Prophet.”<sup>258</sup> Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani says that the ‘ulama unanimously agreed that lying about the Messenger of Allah is one of the cardinal sins (kaba’ir), and others went further to say, that whoever lies about the Holy Prophet is an unbeliever (kafir). Al-Sam‘ani states that narrations would not be accepted from someone who lied about the Holy Prophet, even one time.<sup>259</sup>

Another example of the narrations of Abu Hurayra is found in the Sahih of Imam al-Bukhari. Abu Hurayra attributes the following advice to the Messenger of Allah, “When a fly falls into one of your goblets, immerse the entire fly inside the goblet and then take it out, and then consume the (contents of the) goblet, because on one wing of the fly is the disease, and on the other is the cure.”<sup>260</sup> Sahih Muslim narrates from Abu Hurayra that the Holy Prophet slept until sunrise and missed the morning prayers!<sup>261</sup> This hadith is not compatible with the Holy Quran which says, “Stand to pray all night, except a little—half of it, or a little less than that, or a little more—and recite the Quran in a slow style.”<sup>262</sup> How could the Holy Prophet, who never missed the midnight prayers, miss the obligatory morning prayers? Along the same line, in Sahih Bukhari, it narrates from Abu Hurayra that the Muslims were standing in their prayer rows about to pray, and that the Holy Prophet had just finished the iqamah when suddenly he remembered that he was junub!<sup>263</sup> Al-Bukhari also narrates from Abu Hurayra that the Holy Prophet said, “The Shaytan (Satan) confronted me and kept me busy!”<sup>264</sup> This hadith also diverges from the Holy Quran, which says, “When you want to recite the Quran, seek refuge with Allah from the Shaytan, the outcast. Verily, he has no power over those who believe and put their trust only in their Lord. His power is only over those who obey and follow him and those who join partners with him.”<sup>265</sup>

Imam Muslim also narrates from Abu Hurayra that Lady ‘A’ishah, the wife of the Holy Prophet said:

One day, the Messenger of Allah was lying in my house, revealing his thighs. Abu Bakr sought permission (to enter). He gave him permission, so he entered and spoke to the Prophet, and the Prophet remained in the same condition. Then ‘Umar sought permission (to enter). He gave him permission, and he spoke to him while he was in the same condition. Then ‘Uthman sought permission (to enter.) Once ‘Uthman sought permission, he (the Prophet) sat down properly and covered himself. When he spoke to him and he left, I said, “You neither paid attention to Abu Bakr nor ‘Umar, so why did you (when ‘Uthman entered) cover your thigh?” The Prophet said, “Would I not be embarrassed in front of a man whom the angels are embarrassed in front of?”<sup>266</sup>

Ibn ‘Arafa explains that most of such narrations were constructed during the time of the Umayyad Dynasty.<sup>267</sup> When Mu’awiyah reached power, he wrote to all his governors around the Islamic state, “For every virtue which is narrated by the Prophet on behalf of Imam Ali, I need a similar virtue to be said on behalf of the Companions.”<sup>268</sup>

Since hadiths are the second source of Islamic legislation thus all the contents and chains of narrators should be carefully examined and compared to the Book of Allah before being accepted. The Shi'a school of thought has strict criteria for judging the narrators of hadith and determining the authenticity of hadiths.

Differences and Misunderstandings between the Shi'a and the Other Schools of Thought

'Abasa Watawalla (He Frowned and Turned Away)

This verse is one of the verses of the Holy Quran whose interpretation differs between the two main schools of thought. The majority of the Sunni scholars claim that the man who frowned and turned away from the blind person was the Holy Prophet, while the Shi'a scholars say that the man who frowned and turned away was one of the companions of the Prophet; not the Prophet himself.

According to the Sunni scholars, the blind man was 'Abdullah ibn Um Maktoum. He is said to have come to the Holy Prophet when the Holy Prophet was conversing with a group of non-believers (Utbah ibn Rabi'ah, Abu Jahl ibn Hisham, al-'Abbas ibn 'Abd al-Mutallib, 'Ubay, and Umayyah ibn Khalaf) and trying to incline their hearts towards Islam since they were the leaders of Makkan society and if they embraced Islam then many others would follow suit. The blind man came and interrupted the Prophet and asked him to teach him what Allah had taught him, not knowing that the Prophet was busy with this group of people. Thus according to the Sunni scholars the Prophet frowned.

The Shi'a interpretation of this verse, as narrated from the sixth imam of the Ahlul-Bayt, Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq is that it descended because one of the Companions of the Prophet, who happened to be from Bani Umayyah, was sitting next to the Prophet and when the blind man came the man expressed a dislike and disgust at him hence he turned his face away from him.<sup>269</sup> This interpretation is more in character with the Prophet since frowning was not one of the Prophet's characteristics, even with his enemies. Nor was it of the Holy Prophet's character to be more inclined towards the rich or to abandon the poor. Allah attributes the highest moral character to the Prophet, "And verily you (Muhammad) are on an exalted standard of character."<sup>270</sup> "And by the mercy of Allah, you (Muhammad) dealt with them kindly. And had you been severe and harsh-hearted, they would have broken away from about you."<sup>271</sup> "Verily, there has come unto you a Messenger from among yourselves. It grieves him that you should receive any injury or difficulty. He is anxious for you to be rightly guided. For the believers, he is full of piety, kind and merciful."<sup>272</sup>

After all of these testimonies from Almighty Allah, it is difficult to believe that the Prophet would still frown and turn away from one of his blind companions, since he began and ended his mission by expressing his affectionate support to the needy, the blind, and the disabled in society, and spent nights without food to sympathize with the poor.

It is strange that some commentators would consider attributing this verse to one of the Companions of the Prophet as an insult to the Companions, while they do not consider the interpretation of this verse as an insult to the Prophet himself; even when he is the highest example of ethical and moral behavior, and is the master and leader of all the faithful.

The Father of Ibrahim and the Father of Imam Ali

According to Shi'a doctrine, all the messengers, prophets, and divinely ordained imams descend from monotheistic fathers, grandfathers, and ancestors. Allah states this when He addresses the Holy Prophet Muhammad, "Who sees you, O Prophet Muhammad, when you stand up at night for prayers, and your movements among those who fall prostrate (among your ancestors)."<sup>273</sup> From this verse, we understand that the father, grandfather, and great-grandfathers of the Prophet—all up to Adam—were believers in Allah; they did not associate anyone or anything with Allah.

Similarly, Prophet Ibrahim also descended from monotheists; according to history, his father died as a monotheist, thereafter, he became the custody of his uncle, who is metaphorically referred to as his “father” in the Quran.

Likewise, the father of Imam Ali, Abu Talib was also from a monotheistic descend. Logic dictates that such a man who fiercely defended the Prophet for many years and never yielded to the demand of the Quraysh to hand him over to them, and whose death, along with that of Khadijah, prompted the Holy Prophet to call that year “the year of sadness” was a believer in Allah and one who died as a Muslim. Traditions found in some of the sahhah, saying that he is being punished by Allah should not be taken as authentic, and their chains of narrators must be doubted since politics played a great role in distorting the traditions of the Holy Prophet; in addition to, the character assassination of great personalities of Islam, such as Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib.

Abu Talib’s proper name was ‘Abd al-Munaff or ‘Imran. He defended the Holy Prophet for forty-two years; before the Holy Prophet started his mission and afterwards. It has been said about him, “Whoever reads the tradition of the Holy Prophet will know that if it were not for Abu Talib, Islam would not have been able to continue its progress.”<sup>274</sup> There is no doubt about the full submission and faithfulness of Abu Talib to the unity of Allah and the religion of Islam.

The Myth of the Distortion of the Holy Quran

Only one Quran exists, which was revealed by Almighty Allah to the Holy Prophet Muhammad. No additions have been made to it nor have there been any deletions, and nothing in it has been rearranged or otherwise tampered with. Allah says, “We sent down the Book, and We are its protectors.”<sup>275</sup> Unfortunately, some Muslims have the misconception that the followers of the Ahlul-Bayt have a different Quran, yet if they were to visit the Shi’a mosques, homes, or Islamic centers and meet with their individuals and scholars then they would discover that this accusation has no basis.

One of the prominent Shi’a narrators of hadith, Muhammad ibn ‘Ali al-Qummi al-Suduq asserts, “Our belief is that the Quran which descended from Allah upon His Prophet is what we find today between the two covers, and that is what the people have in their hands—no more and no less than that, and whoever attributes to us that we say other than that, is a liar.”<sup>276</sup> The Shi’a were always concerned over the correct transmission of the Holy Quran, and when the Holy Prophet died, Imam Ali swore that he would not wear his robe except for prayers until he had gathered the entire Quran into one volume (mushaf).<sup>277</sup>

However, in some of the sahih books, some narrations assert that entire suras, even verses of the Holy Quran are missing or were lost. For example, Imam al-Bukhari narrates, “Verily, Allah sent Muhammad with truth, and He sent down the Book upon him, and the verse of stoning was included in what was sent down to him. We recited it, retained it in our memory, and understood it. Allah's Messenger awarded the penalty of stoning to death (to the married adulterer and adulteress) and after him, we also awarded the penalty of stoning. I am afraid that, with the lapse of time, the people (may forget) and may say, 'We do not find the penalty of stoning in the Book of Allah,' and thus go astray by abandoning this duty prescribed by Allah. Stoning is a duty laid down in the Book of Allah for married men and women who commit adultery when proof is established, or if there is pregnancy or a confession."<sup>278</sup> Other narrations also erroneously indicate that there was a verse in the Holy Quran saying to stone the adulterers.<sup>279</sup>

Imam al-Bukhari also narrates from one of the companions that there was a verse in the Holy Quran stating that the abandoning of ancestors is kufir (disbelief),<sup>280</sup> all Muslims know that there is no such verse in the Holy Quran. Some other narrations, from other sources suggest that many verses of the Holy Quran are missing. Lady 'A'ishah, for example, narrates that the sura al-Ahzab (33) used to have 200 verses during the time of the Holy Prophet, but when the third caliph, 'Uthman ibn

Affan compiled the Holy Quran, he could only find 73 of them.<sup>281</sup> ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar also narrates, “No one should say, ‘I have taken (the judgment) from the entire Quran.’ How does he know that this is the entire Quran? Verily, a great deal is missing from the Quran.”<sup>282</sup> There are other claims as well which do not need to be mentioned further.

The intention here is not to pursue the issue of the false allegations of the distortion of the Holy Quran amongst the various schools of thought, since all the schools of thought should be respected. Yet, the point intended is that the Quran the Shi’a follow is the same Quran that exists everywhere in the world, and that there is no other hidden Quran as some people claim.

Mushaf Fatima

According to the narration of the Ahlul-Bayt, when the Messenger of Allah passed away his daughter, Lady Fatima al-Zahra was in so much grief that Allah sent her an angel to console her, and that the angel told her about what would happen to her in the near future. She found comfort in this news, and her husband, Imam Ali recorded what the angel said. These writings were gathered in a book called Mushaf Fatima. Imam Sadiq says, “There is nothing unlawful or lawful in that book, but it says only what will happen in the future.”<sup>283</sup> Other reports say that whenever the Messenger of Allah received a revelation, he would then explain it to his daughter, and she would write it in a book which was named Mushaf Fatima. The followers of the Ahlul-Bayt believe that this book is now with the last Imam of the school of Ahlul-Bayt.

Mushaf Fatimh is not a Quran or part of the Quran; and the only Quran that the followers of the Ahlul-Bayt have and fully believe in is the one that was revealed to the Holy Prophet Muhammad during his lifetime, which is available throughout the world.

Naming After the Prophets and the Imams

Some Muslim families who follow the school of Ahlul-Bayt name their children after some of the prophets and imams in the manner of ‘Abd al-Nabi, ‘Abd al-Rasul, ‘Abd al-Husayn, ‘Abd al-Rida, and so on. Some people wonder whether this practice is permissible or not. Although the Holy Prophet said that the best of names are those beginning with “‘Abd” and “Muhammad,” thus there is no harm in using the previous name because the name is not intended to be literal, and it does not imply that the specific child is a slave of the Holy Prophet, Imam Husayn, or Imam Rida, or that the Holy Prophet or the imams created him and are sustaining him. Rather, this sort of naming expresses gratitude, admiration, and love to those such as the Holy Prophet and the imams who dedicated their entire lives for the welfare of humanity.

The Holy Quran itself uses the word “‘abd” to mean other than the “servant of Allah” for example, the phrase “min ‘ibadikum” (from your male slaves) does not mean that the slaves are worshipping their owner. The real slavery and ownership is for Allah, but allegorically, the name ‘Abd al-Rasul implies that its bearer is a slave of Allah through the Holy Prophet, since the Holy Quran states, “Whoever obeys the Messenger has obeyed Allah.”<sup>284</sup> Again, the sense of slavery is to be taken allegorically not literally.

Expressions like these find their way into a common speech in which people sometimes say the phrase “my master (sayyidi),” as a form of politeness. Some may even use the expression, “may I be your ransom (ju’iltu fidak)” without meaning it literally. In the Arabic language, these phrases express gratitude and thankfulness. Hence, naming a person ‘Abd al-Husayn or ‘Abd al-Rida is in no way shirk (polytheism) to Almighty Allah, since all Muslims agree that He is the only one who deserves submission and obedience.

Visiting the Shrines of the Prophets and Imams

Likewise, touching and kissing the shrines of the Holy Prophet and the imams does not imply shirk or associate that particular person with Allah, since Allah has the ultimate sovereignty in this universe, and Muslims submit to, worship, and seek help only from Him. Visiting the shrines is merely a gesture of respect. If the Holy Prophet or the imams were alive then out of admiration people would shake hands with them or kiss them. Since they are dead and people know that their shrines contain their sacred bodies, and perhaps their souls, touching or kissing their shrines is a way of renewing allegiance and loyalty with these leaders. People are well aware of the fact that such shrines are made of ordinary material and the worshippers know that it has no power of benefit or harm; nevertheless, the respect and tribute is for what the shrines represent—the souls of the Holy Prophet and the imams. Besides, being present within the precincts of the sacred shrines gives the worshipper the sense of being in a sacred and holy place.

The Holy Quran teaches that when Jacob (Yaqub) cried over the separation of his son, Joseph (Yusuf) he lost his sight. Years later, Yusef sent his shirt with one of his brothers and told him to put it on the face of his father so that he would regain his sight. The Quran says:

Go with this shirt of mine and cast it over the face of my father. He will become clear-sighted. And bring to me all your family. And when the caravan departed (Egypt), their father (who was in Palestine) said, “I do indeed feel the smell of Joseph, if only you think me not sane.” They (his family) said, “Certainly you are in your old error.” Then when the bearer of glad tidings arrived, he cast it (the shirt of Yusef) over his face, and he became clear-sighted. He said, “Did I not say to you that I know from Allah that which you know not?”<sup>285</sup>

Although Yusef's shirt was made of regular cotton material, which most of the people wore at that time, Allah made it bear His blessings because it touched the body of Yusef, and Allah's permission, authority, and blessing affected this shirt so that when it was put on Yaqub's face it enabled him to see.

If touching the shrine of the Holy Prophet or Imam Ali or Imam Husayn were shirk (because these shrines are made from iron) then why do millions of Muslims touch the stones of the Holy Ka'bah? Were these stones brought from Paradise or are they ordinary stones used from the land of Hijaz? All Muslims agree that the Holy Prophet kissed al-hajar al-aswad, the black stone on the Ka'bah, whereas he certainly did not go around kissing the stones in the alleyways and streets of Makkah even though they may have been more alluring than the Black Stone. Today, in most countries, both Muslim and non-Muslim, the flag of a nation is so sacred that soldiers, even civilians kiss it and put it on their faces. Does that mean they are worshipping a piece of cloth? Certainly not; the idea behind these examples is that they are glorifying the ideas behind the stones or the shrines or the flags, and these are the principles and ideas which were carried by the great leaders and countries.

Imam al-Bukhari narrates that whenever the Holy Prophet did the ablution (wudhu'), the Muslims used to gather and collect the remaining water and pour it on their faces for blessings.<sup>286</sup> He also narrates that even the sweat of the Holy Prophet was collected, al-Bukhari writes, "Um Salamah was putting some cloth under the Apostle of Allah

when he slept. There was a lot of perspiration from his body. She brought a bottle and began to pour the sweat in that. When the Apostle of Allah woke up he said, ‘Um Sulamah, what is this?’ She said, ‘That is your sweat which we mix in our perfumes, and they become the most fragrant perfumes.’”<sup>287</sup>

“Sadaqa Allahu Al-Adhim” or “Sadaqa Allahu al-Ali Al-Adhim”

There is practically no difference between saying, “Sadaqa Allahu al-adhim” (Allah the Most Great spoke the truth) or “Sadaqa Allahu al-aliy al-adhim” (Allah the Most Great and Most High spoke the truth). This issue is perhaps the least significant between the schools of thought, especially since both sayings have been used occasionally in both, the Shi’a and the Sunni schools of thought.

However, the source of either saying mentioned above will be referred to the Holy Quran to dispel any misconceptions which may arise in the minds of some Muslims who may think that the word “al-Ali” refers to Imam Ali ibn Abi Talib, which it does not. The initial phrase “sadaqa allah” occurs in the Quran in many places such as, “Say: Allah has spoken the truth (sadaqa Allah).”<sup>288</sup> “Al-Ali” and “Adhim” are among the 99 attributes of Allah. In the Holy Quran, Allah mentions His name coupled with “al-Adhim” by itself once,<sup>289</sup> and He mentions both attributes together twice (2:255 and 42:4) as “al-Ali,” which is mentioned in numerous verses, such as 22:62, 31:30, 34:23, 40:12, 4:34, 42:51, and others. Therefore, mentioning both attributes together (“al-Ali” and “al-Adhim”) is in no way a reference to the name of Imam Ali but rather imitating what the Holy Quran says in glorifying and exalting Almighty Allah.

Lamentation and Mourning the Tragedies of the Holy Prophet and His Family

In general, the Holy Quran praises the act of crying and those who cry for a rightful cause. The Holy Quran describes many of the prophets and their followers by saying, “When the verses of the Most Gracious were recited unto them, they fell down prostrating and weeping.”<sup>290</sup> It also describes certain believers similarly, “And they say, ‘Glory be to our Lord. Truly, the promise of our Lord must be fulfilled,’ and they fall down upon their faces weeping, and it adds to their humility.”<sup>291</sup> The Holy Prophet has been narrated to have cried for several members of his family, such as his son Ibrahim, Imam al-Bukhari narrates:

The Messenger of Allah said, “A child was born unto me this night, and I named him after my father, Ibrahim.” He then sent him to Um Sayf, the wife of the blacksmith, Abu Sayf. He (the Holy Prophet) went to him, and I followed him until we reached Abu Sayf who was blowing fire with the help of bellows, and the house was filled with smoke. I hastened my step and went ahead of the Messenger of Allah and said, “Abu Sayf, stop it, as there comes the Messenger of Allah.” He stopped, and the Apostle of Allah called for the child. He embraced him and said what Allah had desired. I saw that the boy breathed his last in the presence of the Messenger of Allah. The eyes of the Messenger of Allah shed tears, and he said, “Ibrahim, our eyes shed tears, and our hearts are filled with grief, but we do not say anything except that by which Allah is pleased. O Ibrahim, we are grieved for you.”<sup>292</sup>

The Holy Prophet is also narrated to have wept for his uncle Hamzah:

When the Holy Prophet returned from the Battle of Uhud and witnessed the women of Ansar weeping for their martyred husbands, he stood and said, “But nobody is weeping for my uncle Hamzah,” so the women understood that the Prophet desired people to weep for his uncle, and that is what they did. All the crying for others ceased except the crying for Hamzah.<sup>293</sup>

And for his cousin Ja‘far ibn Abi Talib<sup>294</sup> and his grandson Imam Husayn:

Lady ‘A’ishah narrates that when Husayn was a child, he came into the presence of the Prophet and sat on his lap, and Jibril descended and told the Prophet that some of his nation would kill him (Husayn) and brought him a sample of the soil of Karbala, and said that the land was called al-Taff. When Jibril left, the Prophet went out to his companions with the soil in his hand, and there were Abu Bakr, ‘Umar, Ali, and Hudayfah while he was weeping. They asked him why he was weeping. He said, “Jibril has informed me that my son Husayn will be killed in the land of al-Taff,” and he brought me this soil from there and informed me that his final rest will be there.<sup>295</sup>

Weeping for Imam Husayn is considered seeking nearness to Allah, since the tragedy of Imam Husayn is inextricably bound to the great sacrifice he endured for the sake of Allah. It is a reminder of Allah and the tradition of the Holy Prophet, who knew the fate of his grandson cried at his birth, cried when he was a child playing, and cried at his last moment before he died.

It is a natural act for people to show sympathy and affection towards those whom they love when they are stricken by grief and calamity. The Holy Quran says, “Say (O Muhammad): ‘I do not ask any reward from you for this (preaching the message) but love for my relatives.’”<sup>296</sup> The Messenger of Allah explicitly told the Muslims that this verse refers to his Ahlul-Bayt—Ali, Lady Fatima, Hassan, and Husayn (for further information, see section on “Ahlul-Bayt”). Thus, it is incumbent upon the Muslims to show love and sympathy for these individuals and the trials they endured.

None of the Ahlul-Bayt died of a natural death; all were either poisoned or killed by the sword in their struggle to defend Islam. None can fail to feel sorrow and pain for their tragedies. How could someone hear about the tragedy of ‘Ashura, when Imam Husayn sacrificed 72 members of his family and companions for the sake of Allah, and was killed in such a tragic manner. The tragedy continued, when the women of his family—the family of the Messenger of Allah—were taken captive and dragged from city to city, accompanying the severed heads of Imam Husayn, his relatives and companions; how then can a person not cry? Even those who are not Muslim shed tears when hearing this story. If Muslims will cry over their own relatives, then how can they not cry over the family of the Prophet of Allah? Imam Husayn was not killed to be cried for; he gave his life to save the message of Islam and was martyred to fight tyranny and corruption. But the tears and sadness for Imam Husayn brings about a solemn pledge to follow in the footsteps of the Holy Prophet and his family.

Showing sympathy about the tragedy of Imam Husayn and others from the Ahlul-Bayt is neither an innovation nor a bid`ah. It must be noted that following the path of Imam Husayn is more important in the school of Ahlul-Bayt than merely crying for him.

Three Divorces in One Session

In Islam, divorce should be avoided at all costs. The Holy Prophet has been reported to have said that in the eyes of Allah, divorce is the most hated of all permissible acts. It should only be performed as a last resort. Islam encourages family mediators to be called,<sup>297</sup> and divorce should be pronounced on three separate occasions following a three-month waiting period before becoming irrevocable. The Quran says, “Divorce is only permissible twice, after which the parties should either stay together in a goodly manner, or separate with kindness. And if he has divorced her the third time, then she is not lawful unto him thereafter until she has married another husband. Then if the other husband divorces her, it is no sin on both of them that they reunite, provided that they feel that they keep the limits ordained by Allah.”<sup>298</sup>

Unfortunately, some non-Shi’a Muslim jurists allow a husband to divorce his wife irrevocably by issuing three divorce pronouncements in a single occasion, which is clearly opposed to the intent of the Holy Quran. It has been narrated in the books of sahhah, as well as in other books,<sup>299</sup> that the three divorce pronouncements in one session were considered as only a one legal divorce during the time of the Holy Prophet, the first caliph, and the first two years of the second caliph’s rule. After that, the second caliph allowed the three pronouncements in one session to be considered as a three legal divorce, and hence the wife would be unable to go back to her husband.<sup>300</sup>

Khums* in Islam

Khums is one of the pillars of Islam which was ordained by Allah and practiced during the life of the Messenger of Allah. Khums means “one-fifth,” and indicates that one fifth of a person’s excess income has to be dedicated, according to the Quran, for the following, “And know that whatever of profit you make, verily, one-fifth of it is assigned to Allah and to the Messenger and to his family and also the orphans, the destitute, and the wayfarer, if you have believed in Allah, and in that which We sent down to our servant Muhammad.”<sup>301</sup>

Khums, in brief, means paying one-fifth of the surplus of one’s income after taking away the expenses of the person and his dependants. It consists of two equal parts: one is the share of the imam. That is, this part goes for constructing mosques, Islamic seminaries, Islamic schools, libraries, hospitals and clinics, orphanages, printing the Holy Quran, hadith books, Islamic books and lectures, and others which benefit, defend, or propagate Islam. The second part is the portion for the poor sayyids (descendants of the Holy Prophet), since they are banned from receiving sadaqa (general charity).

Many historical references from different schools of thought mention that the khums existed during the time of the Holy Prophet and was banned during the time of the first and second caliphs.<sup>302</sup> The interpretation by the Ahlul-Bayt of the word “ghanimtum” in 8:41 is “everything you gained”—whether from war, work, trade, or other sources, since Islam’s history testifies that the Holy Prophet took out one-fifth from the war booty, and also, from assets

Temporary Marriage (Mut'ah)

Discussing the legality of temporary marriage should not in any way be perceived as encouraging youths to engage in such a practice. Permanent marriage is the norm which is recommended and encouraged by the Holy Quran and the tradition of the Holy Prophet and his Ahlul-Bayt. Temporary marriage is the exception and should be used as a last resort whenever permanent marriage cannot be afforded or becomes extremely difficult to bear. This section does not intend to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of such a marriage; but rather, to address its Islamic legality with respect to the Holy Quran and the tradition of the Holy Prophet.

Marriage in Islam is a sacred institution, a commitment, and a pledge by two individuals to respect and honor each other's will, dignity, honor, and aspirations. Marriage is of two types: permanent and temporary. Both share the same rules and restrictions. Both need a prescribed form of proposal and acceptance, and the marriage—even the permanent one—are open to conditions and restrictions. If the marriage is not confined to a period of time, then it would be considered as a permanent one, and if it is conditioned by a period of time, then it will be a temporary one.

While disagreeing on the matter of temporary marriage, the scholars of other schools of thought agree that if a man intends to marry a lady for a short period of time without telling her that he will be divorcing her after a period of time and hides his intentions then the marriage is still valid. In such a case, temporary marriage seems more logical since the couple can actually agree on the terms and conditions beforehand with full honesty.

In essence, temporary marriage is a normal marriage with a mutual agreement that is conditioned by a period of time. The conditions for this marriage include the following: a proposal and acceptance, a dowry for the woman, both parties have to consent and both have the freedom to accept or decline, both have to be sane, and a virgin woman must have her father's or guardian's approval. However, in temporary marriage, there is no obligation for sustenance or inheritance unless it is stated and conditioned in the marriage contract.

Regarding this practice, the Holy Quran says, "So with those whom you have engaged in mut'ah (temporary marriage), give them their dowries as prescribed."<sup>305</sup> In the tradition of the Holy Prophet, scores of hadiths state the permissibility of temporary marriage. Imam al-Bukhari narrates, "There came to us the declarer of Allah's Messenger and said, 'Allah's Messenger has granted you permission to have temporary marriage,’—that is mut‘ah of women.”<sup>306</sup> He also narrates:

We were on an expedition with Allah’s Messenger and we had no women with us. We said, ‘should we not have ourselves castrated?’ He (the Holy Prophet) forbade us to do so. He then granted us permission to contract temporary marriage for a stipulated period giving the women garments, and ‘Abdullah then recited this verse, “O ye who believe, do not make unlawful the good things that Allah has made lawful for you, and do not transgress. Allah does not like transgressors.”<sup>307</sup>

Imam al-Bukhari also narrates:

We went out with Allah’s Messenger on the expedition to Banu al-Mustaliq. We were suffering from the absence of our wives, so we decided to have temporary marriage with women but by observing ‘azl. (outside ejaculation) But we said, ‘We are doing an

Imam Muslim also narrates instances of temporary marriage being done at the time of the Holy Prophet<sup>309</sup> and gives clear reference that temporary marriage was lawful during the time of the Holy Prophet, the first caliph Abu Bakr, and during part of the time of the second caliph—who was the one who prohibited it. Even after that time, it was still accepted by some Sunni scholars, such as al-Qurtubi who considered it as a lawful form of marriage and that it had been agreed upon by the predecessors and the successors (the salaf and the khalaf).<sup>310</sup>

The leaders of the Ahlul-Bayt argue that according to the Holy Quran no one has the authority to make any act lawful or unlawful by his own desire. If there were an interest in banning temporary marriage then Allah, the All-knowing would have the priority to do so through His Prophet.

Mut‘at al-Hajj

Mut‘at al-Hajj means that Muslims are free from the restrictions of ihram (ritual consecration) during the time between ‘umrah and the hajj, as the Holy Quran states in 2:196. However, spousal relations between the time of ‘umrah and hajj were prohibited by the second caliph, ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab declared, “O people, three things existed during the time of the Messenger of Allah that I prohibit and make unlawful and will punish for: mut‘at al-hajj, mut‘at al-nisa (temporary marriage), and ‘hayya ‘ala khayr al-‘amal’ (in the adhan).”<sup>311</sup> Similarly, he also said, “Two types of mut‘ah existed during the time of the Messenger of Allah, and I prohibit them and will punish for them: mut‘at al-hajj and mut‘at al-nisa.”<sup>312</sup>

Suyuti reports that ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab was the first to introduce the tarawih prayers, lashed eighty lashes (instead of one hundred) as a punishment for drinking, prohibited mut‘ah marriage, performed four takbirs (instead of five) in the funeral prayers, and many other things.<sup>313</sup>

Tirmidhi narrates that ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar was asked about mut‘at al-hajj. He said that it is lawful. The person pointed out that ‘Abdullah’s father had been the one to

Conclusion

A Call for Muslim Unity

Discussing historical facts or jurisprudential differences should not in any way discourage Muslim unity since the majority of Muslim historians from all schools of thought agree on similar historical facts. Differences between the philosophers, scholars and thinkers of the schools of thought can be either constructive or destructive. If they lead to the fragmentation of the Muslim nation, then they are unacceptable, as the Holy Quran says, “But they have broken their religion among them into sects, each group rejoicing in its belief.”<sup>315</sup> Such groups of people support ideas which are not based on the truth and use them only to serve their own purposes, whereas the Holy Quran refers all arguments to one source, “And obey Allah and His Messenger, and do not dispute with one another lest you lose courage, and your strength depart, and be patient; surely, Allah is with those who are patient.”<sup>316</sup> Unfortunately, the weakness of the Muslim world today is due to this type of disunity.

Nonetheless, constructive differences is a sign of a healthy society in which people compete for what is best, “If Allah willed, He would have made you one nation (religion) but that He may test you in what He has given you. So strive (as in a race) in good deeds.”<sup>317</sup> Differences in scientific and jurisprudential opinions can lead to progress and prosperity, and on a philosophical level, are beneficial if they lead to certainty (yaqin), since all people must doubt, question, and differ from a matter before arriving at the truth. Therefore, Islam does not reject reasoning in the field of jurisprudence (ijtihad), as long as, it is not contaminated with politics or personal aims and conceit. Thus all Muslim scholars agree that the mujtahid (juristic scholar) receives two rewards for every correct decision and even one for every incorrect one because he is endeavoring with all his effort to reach the correct decision.

Nevertheless, Muslim unity is one of the goals of Muslim society and is an obligation on all Muslims, both individually and collectively. Allah says in the Holy Quran, “Truly, your nation is one united nation, and I am your Lord,”<sup>318</sup> and “Verily this (your nation) is one nation, and I am your Lord, so keep your duty to Me.”<sup>319</sup> Throughout the twenty-three years of his propagation, the Messenger of Allah emphasized the unity of his nation and called them “My Nation (Ummati).” The Holy Quran gives six meanings to the word ummah: a group of people, an example, adherence to a religion, a religion itself, the time, and a group that follows one tradition and one way.

However, it would not be used for a group that did not follow one tradition and one way.

The concept of unity itself is discussed in the Holy Quran on three levels. Foremost, it is the unity of humanity, “O mankind! We have created you from a male and a female, and made you into nations and tribes that you may know one another. Verily, the most honorable of you with Allah is the one who has piety.”<sup>320</sup> The aim of this unity is to direct all the racial, tribal, and religious differences into a constructive direction. Thus the emphasis on “knowing one another” (li-ta’arifu) is that people should find mutual understanding rather than conflict, so that no one is denied the rights for life and prosperity.

The second form is within the unity of the People of the Book (or the monotheistic religions), the Quran says, “Say (O Prophet Muhammad): O People of the Book! Come to a word that is just between us and you, that we worship none but Allah, and that we associate no partners with Him, and that none of us will take others as lords besides Allah. Then if they turn away, say: Bear witness that we are Muslims.”<sup>321</sup> The Holy Quran reiterates that the People of the Book were asked to worship only Allah, “And they were commanded not except that they should worship Allah and worship none but Him alone.”<sup>322</sup> The essential monotheistic unity of the People of the Book exists, but it should not be taken to mean that there are no differences between their rules and laws and Islam’s. While the original way (din/religion) is seen throughout all monotheistic religions, the practical implementation—i.e. the law—is different according to the Quran, “To each among you We have prescribed a law, and a clear way. If Allah willed, he would have made you one nation but that He may test you in what He has given you.”<sup>323</sup>

Of course, the third unity that the Holy Quran speaks of is the unity of the Muslim nation, “And hold fast, all of you together, to the rope of Allah, and be not divided among yourselves.”<sup>324</sup> Muslim unity has two fundamental purposes, one is to uphold the Holy Quran as the constitution of life, and second, is to accept our mutual responsibility towards each other as Muslims, for the Messenger of Allah has said, “Whoever does not care about the affairs of the Muslims is not one of them,” and “Whoever hears a man calling ‘O Muslims!’ and does not respond is not a Muslim.” He also used the parable of the human body to describe the Muslim nation; if one part suffers, the entire body will suffer. One of the greatest achievements of the Messenger of Allah was to unite hundreds of fragmented tribes throughout the Arabian Peninsula into a single strong nation. When he united them, he did not eliminate differences of opinion between them, but rather, he enabled them to have dialogue with each other and to come to a sense of mutual understanding. Under this philosophy, the Muslim nation was a powerful nation in the past, and only with this understanding it would be able to return to this respected position among the nations of the Muslim world and have the same significant role that it did in the past.

A modern example that the Muslim countries should examine is the European Union in which several states of different languages, cultures, ethnicities, religions, and political agendas have unified under one monetary system, economic agenda, and political front. The Muslim governments could be similarly united if they so chose. The first step to such a unity is to increase the regular conferences and seminars which are held by Muslim intellectuals and scholars and aim to bridge the gap between the schools of thought.

In short, differences of opinion, when properly channeled, are an asset to the intellectual growth of the Muslim nation and are a sign of the vitality of the Islamic culture. The competition arising between different scholars, from all schools of thought, should encourage them to strive with their maximum effort to reach the best decisions, and ultimately, the truth. Diversity should not lead to division and fragmentation; on the contrary, it is part of the unity, just as it was in the society created by the Messenger of Allah 1,400 years ago. We would like to encourage all the scholars and intellectuals of Islam to the continuing of the discussions on the juristic and philosophical issues under the umbrella of la ilaha illa Allah Muhammad rasul Allah, and with the spirit of brotherhood and faith. And ultimately, we ask Allah the Almighty for His guidance and wisdom.

O ye who believe! Fear Allah as He should be feared, and die not except in a state of Islam (submission to Allah. And hold fast—all of you together—to the rope of Allah, and be not divided among yourselves, and remember Allah's favor on you, for you were enemies, one unto another, but He joined your hearts together so that by His grace you became brethren. And you were on the brink of a pit of fire, and He saved you from it. Thus Allah makes his signs clear to you, that you may be guided. Let there arise out of you a group of people inviting to all that is good, enjoining the good and forbidding the evil, and it is they who are the successful. And be not as those who divided and differed among themselves after the clear proofs had come to them. It is they for whom there is an awful torment on the Day when some faces will become white, and some faces will become dark. As for those whose faces will become dark (to them it will be said), "Did you reject faith after accepting it? Then taste the torment for rejecting faith." And as for those whose faces will become white, they will be in Allah's mercy. Therein they shall dwell forever. These are the verses of Allah. We recite them to you in truth, and Allah wills no injustice to mankind.<sup>325</sup>
